FULL-TIME FACULTY

(ACADEMIC YEAR 2026-2027) 99

Abraham S. Fischler College of Education and School of Criminal Justice

Mission

The Abraham S. Fischler College of Education and School of Criminal Justice (FCE&SJC) comprises a global professional learning community dedicated to teaching, service, and scholarship with integrity. The College is committed to offering technologically advanced, student-centered educational experiences in Education, Human Services, and Criminal Justice. As a result, students are prepared to lead positive change in all communities through fostering collaboration and engagement.

Compact Between Faculty and Students

The Compact between Faculty and Students of the Abraham S. Fischler College of Education and School of Criminal Justice (FCE&SJC) is a declaration of a continuous commitment to supporting a vibrant community for all educators and students. Respect is one of the fundamental principles that serve to anchor this community. It is also the driving force for growing and enriching a productive, engaging, and successful community of learners. The purpose of this Compact is to provide behavioral guidelines that will foster, clarify, and energize Fischler's commitment to its educational mission.

Commitments of Faculty

We pledge our utmost efforts to ensure that we will:

1. Promote students' intellectual and professional growth.
2. Respond to student inquiries in a timely manner.
3. Provide substantive feedback to posts and assignments in a timely manner.
4. Provide support to students and be willing to work with students when obstacles arise in their academic and/or personal lives.
5. Be receptive to student feedback.
6. Endeavor to make learning an engaging and interactive experience in all delivery models.

Commitments of Students

We pledge our utmost efforts to ensure that we will:

1. Take responsibility for being an active participant in the learning process.
2. Submit original and quality work in a timely manner.
3. Respond to faculty in a respectful and timely manner.
4. Exhibit professional behavior.
5. Be considerate of times when faculty may be less available.

Accreditations and Approvals

Council for the Accreditation of Educator Preparation (CAEP) Accreditation

The Abraham S. Fischler College of Education and School of Criminal Justice (FCE&SCJ) is accredited by the <http://caepnet.org/> Council for the Accreditation of Educator Preparation (CAEP). This accreditation covers the following initial teacher preparation programs: Bachelor of Science in Elementary Education - ESOL/Reading Endorsements and Bachelor of Science in Exceptional Student Education – ESOL/Reading Endorsement. This accreditation also covers the following advanced programs: M.S. in Educational Leadership and Ed.S. in Educational Leadership.

The M.S. and Ed.S. in Educational Leadership have also earned National Recognition by the National Educational Leadership Preparation (NELP) Specialized Professional Association (SPA).

Council for the Accreditation of Educator Preparation (CAEP) 1140 19th St. NW, Suite 400 Washington, DC 20036

State Approved Educator Preparation Programs

A state approved program is a course of study designed to meet all the state's educational requirements to qualify for a professional certificate or license. Before beginning any Nova Southeastern University education degree program, applicants should contact the specific state department of education to verify requirements and current information regarding educator certification/licensure.

The following degree programs are approved for certification/licensure.

Florida Department of Education approved programs:

M.S. and Ed.S. in Educational Leadership

Nevada Department of Education approved program:

Ed.S. in Educational Leadership

Professional Licensure Programs:

Per 34 C.F.R. § 668.43, the Fischler College of Education and School of Criminal Justice (FCE&SCJ) defines a Professional Licensure Program as an academic program designed, marketed, and/or advertised to fulfill the educational prerequisites for a particular state license or certificate for employment. State-approved programs are included in this definition. Please refer to the Professional Licensure Disclosures section for each program for additional licensure/certification information.

NOTE: Professional credentialing terminology—including licensure, certification, and state-approved programs—is used throughout this catalog to describe NSU's degree programs. While distinct, these terms are used interchangeably at NSU. Here's a brief explanation of each.

- Certification/Licensure: A credential for professionals who meet specific criteria, including passing exams and gaining practical experience. It serves as official state authorization, qualifying individuals for employment in their field.
- State-approved Programs: Educational programs recognized by a state's education department.

Educator Certification/Licensure

The requirements for educator certification/licensure differ from state to state. Some states do not grant initial certification/licensure unless transcripts are endorsed as having met that state's approved program requirements. In Florida, candidates graduating from a state-approved (or certification) program and who have passed all portions of the Florida Teacher Certification Exam (FTCE), or the Florida Educational Leadership Exam (FELE), are eligible for a professional certificate or endorsement. Actual certification, licensure, or endorsement is awarded by the Florida Department of Education. Candidates who complete a Nevada state-approved program and meet all eligibility requirements may apply for certification, licensure, or endorsement. Final approval and issuance are determined by the Nevada Department of Education.

A state department of education reserves the right to change requirements leading to certification/licensure at any time. Consequently, NSU reserves the right to change requirements in a state-approved program, with or without prior notice, to reflect new state mandates. Since Nova Southeastern University programs may not meet a state's certification and/or licensure requirements, before beginning any program, applicants should contact the specific state department of education for requirements and current information regarding educator certification/licensure.

Admission Requirements

The following are general admission requirements that apply to all prospective Abraham S. Fischler College of Education and School of Criminal Justice (FCE&SCJ) graduate students. Additional admission requirements for each program are outlined within each program's section in this catalog. For assistance with the admission process, please contact the Office of Admissions (toll-free at 800-986-3223, ext. 28500) or visit: <https://education.nova.edu/admissions/graduate.html>.

1. All prospective students must submit a completed application with a $50.00 non-refundable fee. A $50.00 application fee is required for each application submitted to Nova Southeastern University.
2. Official transcripts for master's degrees - Sealed official transcripts from the applicants conferred 4-year bachelor's degree institution attended (excluding CAS program applications and international student applications). If a student is seeking to transfer in college or institutional credits toward the degree applying to, and it is different from where the applicant earned a 4-year bachelor's degree, the admissions office may require sealed official transcripts from that institution. All CAS program applicants are required to submit sealed official transcripts from all institutions attended, per CAS requirements.
3. Official transcripts for Doctoral/Educational Specialist degrees- Sealed official transcripts from the applicants conferred master's degree institution attended (excluding CAS program applications and international student applications). Sealed official transcripts from the applicants conferred bachelor's degree institution attended may be required dependent upon admission criteria of the doctoral or educational specialist program. If a student is seeking to transfer in college or institutional credits, toward the degree applying to, and it is different from where the applicant earned a 4-year bachelor's degree and/or master's degree, the admissions office may require sealed official transcripts from that institution. All CAS program applicants are required to submit sealed official transcripts from all institutions attended, per CAS requirements.

NOTE:

- Transcripts should be forwarded directly from the issuing institution in a sealed envelope in order to be considered official. Applicants submitting electronic transcripts should provide this email address with their request: electronictranscript@nova.edu.
 - For NSU to consider an electronic transcript official, it must be received from a reputable third-party delivery agent. NSU accepts electronic transcripts from the following providers: SCOIR, Parchment, National Student Clearinghouse. Transcripts emailed by individuals will not be accepted as official. Third-party delivery agents may email official electronic transcripts to: electronictranscript@nova.edu.
 - Photocopies and facsimiles will not be accepted as final, official transcripts.
1. Admission decisions are based on degrees earned at regionally accredited institutions or an official approved equivalent, such as an evaluation by one of the National Association of Credential Evaluation Services (NACES) approved agencies. The evaluation must include a course-by-course analysis and list all course subjects with United States semester credits and a GPA on a 4.0 scale. For more information, refer to the Transcript Evaluation section.
 2. Applicants may be provisionally admitted based on a preliminary review of unofficial transcripts and/or program-specific admission requirements. However, full admission to any degree program requires the submission of all final, official documents required for admission within 45 calendar days from the official start date of the session/term. Only fully admitted students are eligible for financial aid. Once provisional acceptance is granted, a student who does not attain full admittance within 45 calendar days from the official start date of the session/term will not be permitted to continue his/her studies. Registration will be prohibited, and other services may be suspended.

NONDEGREE-SEEKING STUDENTS – ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

A nondegree-seeking student is one who wishes to enroll in a course for professional development at the Fischler College of Education and School of Criminal Justice and does not intend to pursue a degree at the time of application. Nondegree-seeking applicants must submit the following documentation in order to register for graduate classes:

1. A completed admission application with a $50 nonrefundable fee.
2. Official transcripts for master's degrees - Sealed official transcripts from the applicants conferred 4-year bachelor's degree institution attended (excluding CAS program applications and international student applications). If a student is seeking to transfer in college or institutional credits toward the degree applying to, and it is different from where the applicant earned a 4-year bachelor's degree, the admissions office may require sealed official transcripts from that institution. All CAS program applicants are required to submit sealed official transcripts from all institutions attended, per CAS requirements.
 - Evidence of a bachelor's degree with a minimum cumulative grade point average (CGPA) of a 2.5 or higher from a regionally accredited institution. If the applicant earned less than a 2.5 cumulative GPA, we may consider the application for review with a minimum Graduate Record Examination (GRE®) test score of 300 (combined Verbal and Quantitative scales only) or a Miller Analogies Test (MAT) scaled score of 400. (The tests must have been taken within the past 5 years from the date of application.)
3. Official transcripts for Doctoral/Educational Specialist degrees- Sealed official transcripts from the applicants conferred master's degree institution attended (excluding CAS program applications and international student applications). Sealed official transcripts from the applicants conferred bachelor's degree institution attended may be required dependent upon admission criteria of the doctoral or educational specialist program. If a student is seeking to transfer in college or institutional credits, toward the degree applying to, and it is different from where the applicant earned a 4-year bachelor's degree and/or master's degree, the admissions office may require sealed official transcripts from that institution. All CAS program applicants are required to submit sealed official transcripts from all institutions attended, per CAS requirements.
4. An official transcript from a regionally accredited institution indicating a conferred master's degree or higher (e.g., Ed.S.) with a minimum cumulative grade point average (CGPA) of 2.5.

Nondegree-seeking students are limited to enrolling in a maximum of 12 semester credit hours. Enrollment in a graduate course(s) does not guarantee full acceptance into a degree-seeking program. A nondegree-seeking student may be required to submit a new admission application for a degree-seeking program and must meet all of the requirements for admission into the intended program of study.

PROFESSIONAL LICENSURE DISCLOSURES

The requirements for educator and administrator certification, licensure, or endorsement differ from state to state. Some states do not grant initial certification/licensure unless transcripts are endorsed as having met that state's approved program requirements. The FCE&SCJ defines a professional licensure program as an academic program designed, marketed, and/or advertised to fulfill the educational prerequisites for a particular state license or certificate for employment.

Students are responsible for verifying licensure and certification requirements in the state where they are enrolled and/or intend to seek employment. Requirements vary by state and may change; therefore, students should consult their state licensing agency before and during. Information to assist you in identifying the appropriate state licensing/certification entity is provided at <https://www.ed.gov/contact-us/state-contacts>.

Professional Licensure Disclosures

- Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) with a minimum score of 4
- International English Language Testing System (IELTS) score of 6.0
- Pearson Test of English-Academic (PTE-Academic) minimum required overall score of 54—students must be physically present at a Pearson Test center to take the test; flexible test dates are available at Pearson Test Centers worldwide
- College Level Freshman English course passed with a grade of C or higher in a freshman-level English composition course at a U.S. regionally accredited institution
- GMAT score of 450
- GRE scores of 1,000 (combined Verbal and Quantitative scales only) for tests taken prior to August 1, 2011, or GRE scores of 300 (combined Verbal and Quantitative scales only) for tests taken on or after August 1, 2011
- Duolingo score of 105 or higher.

TRANSCRIPT EVALUATION

Applicants who have earned a degree at an institution outside of the United States must submit an independent academic evaluation from a National Association of Credential Evaluation Services (NACES) member company. The evaluation must include a course-by-course analysis and list all course subjects with United States semester credits and a GPA on a 4.0 scale by one of the NACES approved agencies.

Favorable evaluations will be accepted from one of the evaluating agencies approved by the NACES. A current list of members can be viewed by visiting the NACES Web site at: <http://www.naces.org>.

INTERNATIONAL APPLICANTS

International applicants are required to obtain an F-1 student visa to study on campus at NSU. International candidates who intend to study in the United States are required to obtain an I-20 form from NSU and must be full-time, degree-seeking students, and must attend classes in the South Florida area or at any one of NSU's Regional Campuses in the State of Florida. International candidates may not qualify for an I-20 and a subsequent student F-1 visa due to the online instructional delivery format of all FCE&SCJ programs currently available. Candidates should contact an academic advisor or an assistant/associate director of recruitment to discuss their options prior to beginning the application process. For further information about student visas, contact the Office of International Affairs at 954-262-7240.

Change in Concentration or Major

Students who decide to change their concentration or major must contact an academic advisor to request such a change. Transfer of credits may not be applicable to all programs of study. Admissions requirements, degree requirements, tuition, and policies may differ based on the program admission criteria. Students should contact the Academic Advising Department to discuss the possible impact of the change prior to registering for courses outside the current program of study.

Certification through Course-by-Course Analysis

Certain courses may be available to students seeking certification, endorsements, or upgrades, subject to state licensure requirements. Before registering for courses, students seeking courses that may lead to certification must be admitted to NSU as non-degree-seeking students. Students seeking certification through course-by-course analysis assume full risk in interpreting the letter of eligibility needs. NSU recommends that such students discuss anticipated course offerings with the Teacher Certification Office of their Department of Education, or the local school district certification officer, before registering for any courses.

Graduation

Degree Completion Requirements

To graduate from any program of study, students must complete all required program coursework, capstone experiences, and testing requirements for the given program of study. Each degree program has different requirements, and it is the student's responsibility to complete all requirements outlined in the program of study that are in effect at the time of initial enrollment. Students may view outstanding degree requirements by running an online degree audit via Degree Works in SharkLink. Academic advisors are available to explain all degree completion requirements.

Degree Conferral

Information regarding the degree conferral process can be located on the University Registrar website at nova.edu/registrar/services/degree-conferral.html

For doctoral students, a doctoral degree cannot be processed for conferral until after the last day of the last semester.

NOTE: Upon completion of all required program coursework, capstone experiences, and testing requirements for the given program of study, students must ensure their degree is conferred within one year. Failure to confer a degree within one year of completion of program requirements will constitute an abandonment of the degree, and the student will be required to reapply to the program and fulfill all current program requirements.

Exit Survey

Once approved for degree conferral, students may receive a request to complete an FCE&SCJ Exit Survey. A link to the survey will be provided.

Important Note: Once a degree is conferred, the degree cannot be retroactively changed to another degree plan for any reason. Before choosing a degree program, applicants are strongly encouraged to contact their state licensing authority or certification board for specific requirements for the state where they intend to work.

Diplomas

The diploma indicates the degree the student has earned (e.g., Master of Science), the major (if different from the degree), and the date of conferral. The diploma does not indicate the minor or concentration. The academic transcript (the official record of coursework at NSU), indicates the degree earned, major field of study, concentration, or minor (if any), date of degree conferral, and date of academic completion. After degrees have been conferred and all financial obligations to the university have been met, diplomas are printed and sent to students by U.S. Postal Service.

Commencement

The FCE&SCJ graduate commencement ceremonies are held annually. Students are not required to attend commencement to have their degrees conferred. Please refer to the NSU/FCE&SCJ Student Handbook at: <https://www.nova.edu/student-affairs/index.html> for information regarding commencement participation eligibility for FCE&SCJ's Master's Degree, Educational Specialist Degree, and Doctoral Degree programs.

Degree Limits

To encourage focused academic achievement, promote postgraduate professional success, and allocate university resources efficiently, NSU has established limitations with respect to the number of degrees it will award to a single student. Please see the policy at <https://www.nova.edu/academic-affairs/documents/degree-limits-policy.pdf>

Transfer of Credit

Transferring Credit from Other Institutions

A student who wishes to have a course taken at another regionally accredited institution reviewed for transfer credit must submit a copy of the course syllabus to his or her admissions counselor/advisor. The information will be reviewed to determine if the transfer course outcomes meet the required outcomes of the NSU course. The student will be notified by the college whether transfer of credit has been approved. If transfer credit is approved, the transfer credit will be posted to the student's academic record. If transfer credit has been denied, the student may submit additional substantial information to the college in order to appeal the decision.

A maximum of six (6) semester hours of graduate credit may be considered if:

- The requirements for the student's concentration allow for transfer of credit.
- The credits were earned within the preceding five (5) years from the first semester/term of enrollment in the FCE&SCJ program.
- The credits were earned at a regionally accredited graduate institution.
- The course(s) requested for transfer is/are at an equivalent degree level unless expressly stated within the requirements of the specific degree program.

- The content of the course(s) requested for transfer is equivalent to the course content to which the credit will be applied.
- The grade earned for each course was a B or better. A grade of P (Pass) or other such grade cannot be accepted as equivalent to a B or better unless it can be officially verified as such.
- An official transcript containing the courses under consideration for transfer has been received by the FCE&SCJ Office of Student Services.
- A request for Transfer of Credit form has been completed by the student and sent to the FCE&SCJ Office of Student Services. The transfer of credit form is available on the FCE&SCJ website, at: Transfer of Credit Request.

A course description from the catalog of the institution where credit was earned and/or a course syllabus may be required for review.

Requirements for Transfer Courses from NSU Graduate Certificates

Master's degree programs may accept up to one third of the required total coursework of graduate credit earned from NSU for a graduate certificate in field. Please see the below requirements:

- The student received a grade of 3.0 or better on a 4.0 scale.
- The course was taken at NSU.
- The graduate certificate is in the field of the master's degree.
- The date of completion of the graduate certificate was no longer than 5 years from the start of the master's program.

No transfer of credit will be accepted for the following program components/requirements:

M.S. to Ed.D. En Route Program in Educational Leadership

- Transfer of credit is not accepted for the B.S. to Ed.D. program in Educational Leadership

M.S. and Ed.S. Programs

- Any certificate program
- Supervised Teaching Internship or Teaching Externship
- Core Courses – CUR 526, EDU 708, CIMA 700, and CIMA 720
- Capstone – Administrative/Educational Leadership Internship, Applied Field Experience Applied Professional Experience, Educational Applied Research Project, Field-Based Project, Supervised Practicum

Ed.D. Programs

- Required Core Courses – EDD 8100, EDD 8010, EDD 8110, and EDD 8411
- Required Research Courses – RES 8920, RES 9300, and RES 8913
- Strategic Research Project – ESRP 9000

NOTE: Credit that has been applied to a previously awarded degree or certificate, at NSU or another regionally accredited institution, will not be accepted for transfer of credit. Credit for experiential learning will not be accepted.

Prior to enrolling in any course at another institution for the purpose of transferring credit, students currently enrolled in an FCE&SCJ program should first request an evaluation from the department chair to verify that the credits will be acceptable.

Credits accepted for transfer by FCE&SCJ will not be factored into the student's overall grade point average. Instead, credits accepted for transfer will be applied solely to meet program/degree requirements.

Internal Coursework Credit from NSU

Internal transfer of NSU credits is limited to only those courses that have not been applied towards an earned degree.

- Degree-applicable credit from NSU can be applied to a current eligible degree or a current eligible certificate as long as the credit has not already been applied to an awarded degree or an awarded certificate.
- An exception to the above is credit earned within a university approved dual degree program.
- The quality points will not be calculated in the grade point average (GPA).

NOTE: Students pursuing state certification should consult with an academic advisor regarding current requirements that may affect transfer of credit. This should be done prior to course transfer, as state policies and guidelines are frequently subject to changes and revisions. Students are strongly encouraged to check with their state licensure board to stay updated on the most current certification or licensure requirements throughout the program. For state contact information please visit the U.S. Department of Education State Contacts webpage at: <https://www.ed.gov/contact-us/state-contacts> or for further assistance regarding certification or licensure, please contact: fischlerinfo@nova.edu.

Credits earned at Nova Southeastern University are transferable only at the discretion of the receiving school. Students who wish to transfer credits from NSU should contact the admissions office of the receiving school for information.

2026-2027 Tuition and Fee

Tuition and Fee information can be found on the college's website at <https://education.nova.edu/admissions/tuition-fees.html> and are subject to change.

Students can also find information on university-wide fees at <https://www.nova.edu/bursar/billing/tuition-fees.html>.

Tuition Refund Policy

A student who successfully cancels his/her registration before the end of the first week of class (i.e., the drop/add period) is entitled to a full tuition refund; student fees are also refundable.

A student who drops a course after the first week will receive a prorated tuition refund. The prorated tuition refund will be based on the date of receipt of a completed Student Transaction Form (STF) available online at: <https://www.nova.edu/registrar/forms/index.html>. For exact dates, refer to the Tuition Refund Schedule above. Student fees are nonrefundable after the end of the first week of class.

Students may receive a full refund of tuition payments:

- For not meeting minimum admission requirements
- For a cancelled course or workshop
- For an involuntary call to active military duty

- For documented death of the student or a member of his or her immediate family (parent, spouse, child, or sibling)
- For severe illness of the student (as confirmed in writing by a physician and approved by the institution) that precludes completion of the term
- For extenuating circumstances approved by the president or his designee

NOTE: Requests for a full refund in consideration of any of the above circumstances must be submitted and received in the FCE&SCJ Office of Student Services* no later than 20 calendar days after the end of the semester for which the registration was accepted and processed; documentation will be required.

*See Student Withdrawal from a Course and Cancellation of Registration in this catalog for contact information on submitting requests.

Master of Science (M.S.)

The Master of Science in Education meets the needs of educators and school administrators who want to deepen their knowledge of a subject area, and who seek careers in education-related fields. Guided by current research, our graduate programs serve teachers and others working in a variety of educational contexts and a range of academic fields. Degree programs provide opportunities to connect theory to practice through engaging instructional practices for those interested in advancing their knowledge and careers. As leaders in their fields, faculty members in the Department of Education are recognized for their scholarly work, research-oriented activities, and student-centered approach. They embrace the spirit of NSU's core values of excellence in teaching, appreciation for innovation, student-centeredness, and service to the community.

The Master of Science in Educational Leadership from NSU's Fischler College of Education and School of Criminal Justice equips students to make effective change in their schools. The educational landscape is constantly evolving, creating a need for innovative, transformative leaders who promote student success for all learners and can create collaborative learning environments. An M.S. in Educational Leadership provides students with the competitive edge required to become competent and confident decision-makers inside and outside of the classroom. Courses are taught by experts in the field, with some NSU faculty currently serving in districts as Principals and Superintendents. In addition, active building and district leaders teach field experiences and internship courses from partner districts across the state and the nation, which gives students the opportunity to build relationships and develop a powerful professional network.

The Master of Science in Leadership (MSL) with two concentrations (Organizational Leadership and Business Organization) provides advanced graduate studies to prepare leaders, researchers, and policy makers in local, state, national, and global organizations as well as training organizations, government, business, industry, and military. The Master of Science in Leadership program provides the edge necessary to shape and motivate individuals to reach corporate, public sector, non-profit or higher education goals. Students are taught how to guide others through engaging communication, insightful training, and responsive support, thus improving individual and organizational effectiveness. M.S. in Leadership graduates have built rewarding careers as HR managers and directors, sales managers, healthcare administrators, and management consultants.

Educational Specialist (Ed.S.)

NSU's Fischler College of Education and School of Criminal Justice offers the Educational Specialist (Ed.S.) degree in two concentration areas. This program is tailored for students interested in increasing their knowledge in their current teaching area or simply looking to take their education and career to the next level. The Ed.S. program prepares students to become true leaders in their chosen fields.

Doctor of Education (Ed.D.)

The Doctor of Education (Ed.D.) contains seven concentrations and is designed to support the mission of the FCE&SCJ. The program is designed to prepare adult learners to fulfill their professional and personal academic goals. It provides opportunities to enhance the core knowledge, skills, and values essential to competent and ethical practitioners and leaders of organizations in the fields of education and related areas. The program learning outcomes are focused on facilitating the transfer of theory into practice in order to produce a new generation of local, national, and global leaders who will affect positive changes in society.

Program Majors and Concentrations

Master of Science in Education

The Master of Science (M.S.) in Education degree offers students a challenging and rewarding educational experience. The M.S. degree focuses on growth in professional practice, the application of current research and theory to each student's professional work, the acquisition and enhancement of leadership capacities, and the achievement of career objectives. Technological advancements will continue to move program delivery forward, enabling students to obtain their degrees in new and exciting ways, and from virtually any location.

The M.S. degree offers students with a bachelor's and/or graduate degree various opportunities to meet their educational, career, and professional goals. All concentrations within the degree share a common instructional system and mission, but each is designed to meet different needs. The Master of Science (M.S.) in Education offers a challenging and rewarding experience for professionals both within and beyond traditional school settings, including those pursuing careers in education, training, leadership, and related fields.

Program Learning Outcomes

Graduates of the M.S. in Education with concentrations in Elementary Education, Exceptional Student Education, Reading Education, and Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages (TESOL) will demonstrate mastery of the following learning outcomes.

Graduates will be able to:

1. Advocate for changes to educational policies to ensure fairness for all learners.
2. Share strategies for integrating technology into educational practices with colleagues.
3. Evaluate curricular practices at the school level to ensure alignment with state or national/international standards.
4. Analyze assessment data to inform decision making regarding planning and instruction.
5. Evaluate research to identify evidence-based strategies to address specific educational needs.

Graduates of the M.S. in Education with a concentration in Curriculum, Instruction, and Technology will demonstrate mastery of the following learning outcomes.

Graduates will be able to:

1. Design, develop, and utilize appropriate instructional planning approaches and instructional technologies for learning in a variety of settings, with an emphasis on distance education.
2. Analyze and critique theory, research, and literature related to instruction, educational technology, and education and training, with an emphasis on distance teaching and learning.
3. Utilize various educational technologies for learning in organizations, colleges, universities, and schools.
4. Provide leadership in organizations, colleges, universities, and schools related to instruction/training, with an emphasis on educational technologies and distance education.

Field Experiences

Field experiences are embedded in courses for teacher candidates throughout the master's programs. Teacher candidates employed by a school or school district will complete their assignments at their work site. Alternate assignments will be provided to those candidates who are not employed by a school or school district. These requirements are specified in the individual programs of study that are outlined in the Department of Education sections of this catalog.

Security Clearance

Current security clearance status is required to complete in-field assignments; therefore, only candidates employed by a school or school district will be given in-field assignments.

Graduation Requirements

Please refer to Graduation Information in the NSU/FCE&SCJ Student Handbook at which can be found at <https://www.nova.edu/student-affairs/student-handbooks.html>. Specific program completion requirements can be located within the concentration or contact an academic advisor for additional information.

To complete the M.S. in Education program a student must have:

- completed all required coursework;
- attained an overall 3.0 GPA;
- if applicable, completed a capstone project (e.g., Applied Professional Experience, Internship, Practicum);
- completed all state testing requirements specified for the program concentration, if applicable, and provide an official score report; and
- fulfilled all financial obligations to the university for the diploma to be released.

Program Completion Timeline

Master's degree students are allotted three (3) years from the initial term of enrollment in which to complete all program/degree requirements. Students unable to complete all program/degree requirements within this three-year time frame will be subject to dismissal.

Concentration: Curriculum, Instruction, and Technology (Major Code F676)

About the Concentration

The M.S. in Education with a concentration in Curriculum, Instruction, and Technology is designed for educators and professionals who seek leadership roles in curriculum planning and development with an emphasis on the use of technology to effect change. Upon completion of the program, students should have gained experience in using educational research, learning theories, and instructional technology. Integration of technology into instructional activities, curriculum planning and implementation, and instructional technology leadership are the program focus. Note: This is a non-certification program.

Master of Science in Educational Leadership

The M.S. in Educational Leadership is available to educators who wish to obtain a graduate degree and enter the field of educational leadership. The program uses an individualized learning pathways model and is offered in two concentration options: (1) Florida state-approved or (2) non-certification. Aspiring assistant principals, principals, teacher leaders, district leaders in public, charter, or private settings, and leaders of not-for-profit organizations will be prepared to lead an organization in transformational ways, promote fairness, close the achievement gap, and lead schools that collaborate to build a democratic and socially just society. The course content is research-based and infuses best practices in education, while aligning directly with the Florida Department of Education's program certification requirements.

In the M.S. in Educational Leadership program, students engage in a Problem-Based Learning (PBL) experience that builds across the field experiences and internship courses. The focus of the PBL is to develop students' capacity to propose an assessment-based solution to an educational challenge. As a culminating experience, students present their final projects to their peers, faculty, and district leaders during a week-long summer symposium. Florida Educational Leadership Examination (FELE) test preparation is also infused throughout the program via core coursework and in the culminating seminar course.

Program Learning Outcomes

At the completion of the degree, students will be able to:

1. Employ educational leadership strategies to foster transformation in schools and promote fairness for all learners.

2. Create a collaborative school environment to prioritize learning, value multiple perspectives, and ensure safety and well-being.
3. Evaluate curriculum and instructional practices to ensure alignment with standards and improve student achievement.
4. Evaluate research-based interventions to address educational needs.
5. Analyze assessment data using technology tools to inform strategic planning and make educational decisions.
6. Utilize an effective decision-making process to manage a school organization and ensure adherence to ethical, legal, and professional standards.
7. Communicate effectively orally and in writing with students, families, teachers, and the community to professionally share ideas and engage all stakeholders.

Field Experiences and Internships

The field experiences and administrative internships are completed concurrently with the coursework in this program, to allow for ongoing real-world application of knowledge and theory. The purpose of the internship is to provide an opportunity to perform the duties of a school or district administrator. Under the guidance of an experienced cooperating administrator and a faculty supervisor, the intern will observe, interview, and work with the assigned administrator for a minimum of 250 contact hours. In addition, students will maintain leadership portfolios where they will show evidence of their growth in the knowledge and skills needed to succeed in the roles of educational leaders. Responsibilities assigned and tasks performed are to be aligned with the administrative areas identified as important to the growth of the Intern while meeting the State of Florida Field Experience requirements needed for certification as an Educational Leader. For additional information on field experiences and/or internship, please contact the Office of Placement Services at: ops@nova.edu or link to the website at <https://education.nova.edu/students/resources/placement-support.html>.

NOTE: The online internship application must be submitted and approved prior to the start of the semester/term in order to be eligible for the internship. All field experience and internship students are expected to adhere to the NSU Student Code of Conduct as outlined in the NSU Student Handbook.

Security Clearance

To participate in field experience, students requiring placement in pre-K-12 classrooms are required to obtain a Level 2 security clearance (fingerprint/background check) from their respective school district. Obtaining and maintaining security clearance, along with related costs, is the NSU student's responsibility. Any background clearance secured outside of the local public school district must be approved by the Office of Placement Services (OPS) before it is considered to be in compliance with NSU policies. OPS will provide correct procedures to those individuals with clearance that has been deemed not in compliance. Directions for obtaining a security clearance can be found on the Office of Placement Services Web page: <https://education.nova.edu/students/resources/placement-support.html>.

Testing Requirements

For students in the Florida state-approved concentration, testing requirements must be satisfied prior to the conferral of the student's degree. Specifically, students must submit passing scores on all sections of the Florida Educational Leadership Examination (FELE) as a requirement for graduation. Students are responsible for designating Nova Southeastern University as a recipient of the score report. Official score reports must be submitted directly from the testing center to Nova Southeastern University, Abraham S. Fischler College of Education and School of Criminal Justice prior to degree conferral and commencement participation. Score reports submitted by students will not be accepted.

Graduation Requirements

Please refer to Graduation Information in the NSU/FCE&SCJ Student Handbook at which can be found at <https://www.nova.edu/student-affairs/student-handbooks.html>. Specific program completion requirements can be located within the concentration or contact an academic advisor for additional information.

To complete the M.S. in Educational Leadership program a student must have:

- completed all required coursework;
- attained an overall 3.0 GPA;
- if applicable, completed a capstone project (e.g., Applied Professional Experience, Internship, Practicum);
- completed all state testing requirements specified for the program concentration, if applicable, and provide an official score report; and
- fulfilled all financial obligations to the university for the diploma to be released.

Program Completion Timeline

Master's degree students are allotted three (3) years from the initial term of enrollment in which to complete all program/degree requirements. Students unable to complete all program/degree requirements within this three-year time frame will be subject to dismissal.

Educational Specialist

The Educational Specialist degree (Ed.S.) offers the professional educator both a challenging and rewarding educational experience. The curriculum focuses on growth in professional practice, application of current research and theory to each student's professional work, acquisition and enhancement of leadership capacities, and the achievement of career objectives. Technological advancement will continue to impact the program, enabling students to obtain their degrees from virtually any location.

The Educational Leadership concentration at the Ed.S. level is state approved in Florida and Nevada. The non-certification track includes one concentration—Curriculum, Instruction Management, and Administration—which help educators enhance their qualifications or renew credentials, provided they meet state eligibility requirements. The program also supports professional growth in a specialized area of study while preparing students to become effective instructional leaders.

Program Learning Outcomes

Educational Leadership -- at the completion of the degree, graduates will be able to:

1. Promote development and implementation of educational policies to ensure fairness for all learners.
2. Design professional development on integrating technology into educational practices.
3. Recommend changes to curricular practices at the school, district, and/or state level to support student academic success.
4. Analyze assessment data to inform decision making in educational settings.
5. Engage in research to identify, investigate, and to provide recommendations to address educational needs.

Curriculum, Instruction, Management, and Administration - at the completion of the degree, graduates will be able to:

1. Provide leadership in organizations, colleges, universities, and schools related to instruction/training, with an emphasis on teaching/training and learning at a distance.
2. Create and critique research and literature related to the design, development, and management of teaching/training in a variety of settings with emphasis on teaching/training at a distance.
3. Lead training and teaching organizations that are making changes, including the adoption and diffusion of instructional technology and distance education.
4. Implement and evaluate instructional changes in organizations, colleges, universities, and schools, including changes involving instructional technology and distance education.

Field Experiences

Field experiences are embedded in courses for teacher candidates throughout the educational specialist programs. Additional practicum or field experiences may be required for programs that lead to certification. These requirements are specified in the individual programs of study that are outlined in this section. For additional information on field experiences, contact the Office of Placement Services at 800-986-3223, ext. 25364 or link to the website at <https://education.nova.edu/students/resources/placement-support.html>.

Security Clearance

To participate in field experience, students requiring placement in Pre-K-12 classrooms are required to obtain a Level 2 security clearance (fingerprint/background check) from their respective school district. Obtaining and maintaining security clearance, along with related costs, is the NSU student's responsibility. Any background clearance secured outside of the local public school district must be approved by the Office of Placement Services (OPS) before it is considered to be in compliance with NSU policies. OPS will provide correct procedures to those individuals with clearance that has been deemed not in compliance. Directions for obtaining security clearance can be found on the Office of Placement Services Web page: <https://education.nova.edu/students/resources/placement-support.html>.

Educational Leadership Internship

The EDL 799 course provides an opportunity to observe, interview, work with, and perform the duties of administrators in the actual work setting. Course requirements include a minimum of 300 contact hours, which include structured activities related to the role and responsibilities of educational leaders. The Internship is designed to fulfill the competency and experience goals of the Intern while meeting the State of Florida and the State of Nevada clinical requirements needed for certification as an Educational Leader. The internship is designed to ensure that any products or output are useful to the system in which the Intern works.

NOTE: The Candidate is responsible for identifying a PK-12 local school-based administrator who will participate in the assistance of the Candidate's course required activities. The Candidate is responsible for confirming participation with their local school-based administrator prior to enrolling for EDL 799. The online internship application must be submitted and approved prior to the start of the semester/term to be eligible for the internship. All field experience and internship students are expected to adhere to the NSU Student Code of Conduct, as outlined in the NSU Student Handbook.

Testing Requirements

Testing requirements must be satisfied prior to the conferral of the student's degree. Students are responsible for designating Nova Southeastern University as a recipient of the score report. Official score reports must be submitted directly from the testing center to Nova Southeastern University, Abraham S. Fischler College of Education and School of Criminal Justice prior to degree conferral and commencement participation. Score reports submitted by students will not be accepted. If passing scores for the Florida Educational Leadership Examination (FELE) are not submitted within one year of completing coursework, students will need to reapply to the program and meet all current program requirements.

For specific testing requirements, refer to the respective programs of study that are outlined in the Department of Education sections that follow in this catalog.

Graduation Requirements

Please refer to Graduation Information in the NSU/FCE&SCJ Student Handbook at which can be found at <https://www.nova.edu/student-affairs/student-handbooks.html>. Specific program completion requirements can be located within the concentration or contact an Academic Advisor.

To complete the Ed.S. in Education program a student must have:

- completed all required coursework;
- attained an overall 3.0 GPA;
- completed a capstone project (e.g., Applied Professional Experience, Internship, Practicum);
- completed all state testing requirements as specified for your program concentration, if applicable, and provide an official score report; and
- fulfilled all financial obligations to the university for the diploma to be released.

Program Completion Timeline

M.S. to Ed.D. En Route Program in Educational Leadership

M.S. to Ed.D. En Route Program in Educational Leadership

The M.S. to Ed.D. En Route Program in Educational Leadership offers a streamlined pathway for aspiring educational leaders to earn both a Master's and a Doctorate in Education with a concentration in Educational Leadership within a total of 48 credit hours. Students complete 18 credits of master's level coursework followed by 30 credits of doctoral level coursework, culminating in the Ed.D. degree.

Designed with workforce relevance at its core, the curriculum is aligned with contemporary leadership competencies and the evolving demands of educational organizations. Students engage in rigorous academic study while participating in field-based activities that integrate theory with practice, fostering leadership development in real-world settings.

This innovative program supports professionals seeking to advance their careers in K–12, higher education, or other educational contexts, equipping them with the skills to lead transformative change and drive organizational improvement. Note: This is a non-certification program.

Concentration Learning Outcomes

Graduates of the Ed.D. program with a concentration in Educational Leadership will demonstrate mastery of the following learning outcomes as evidenced by their participation in class, participation in problem-based projects, completion of class assignments and class presentations, and/or field-based experiences.

Graduates will be able to:

1. Implement a strategic plan that outlines actions for school improvement and their implications.
2. Evaluate the human resource program in terms of human resource planning, recruitment of personnel, selection of personnel, placement and induction of personnel, staff development, evaluation of personnel, compensation of personnel, and collective bargaining (if appropriate).
3. Promote a positive culture within the school or district that includes the design of comprehensive professional growth plans for school personnel.
4. Utilize practical applications of organizational theories to manage the resources, budgeting process, physical plant or plants, organizational operations, and the resources of a school or district.
5. Develop and align the curriculum goals and objectives with instructional strategies appropriate for varied teaching and learning styles and specific student needs.
6. Collaborate with internal and external stakeholders, respond to their interests and needs, and mobilize resources.

Program-Specific Admission Requirements

For general requirements, refer to the Admission section in this catalog.

Enrollment Structure

Ed.D. students are required to take two courses per 16-week term (one 8-week course in Session 1 and one 8-week course in Session 2). This structure provides consistent pacing and ensures timely progression through the program and Strategic Research Project milestones.

Program Completion Timeline

Students in the M.S. to Ed.D. En Route Program in Educational Leadership are allotted five (5) years from the initial term of enrollment to complete all required coursework and the Strategic Research Project. Students who do not complete all program or degree requirements within the established timeframe of five-years (coursework and the Strategic Research Project) will be subject to academic dismissal.

Graduation Requirements

Students in the M.S. to Ed.D. En Route program in Educational Leadership will be eligible for conferral of the Master's in Educational Leadership upon completion of 30 credits. This Includes 18 credits of master's level coursework and 12 credits of doctoral level coursework. Upon completion of the remaining 18 credits of doctoral level coursework students will be eligible for conferral of the doctoral degree with a concentration in Educational Leadership.

To complete the M.S. to Ed.D. En Route in Educational Leadership program, a student must have:

- Completed 48 credits of coursework.
- Attained an overall 3.0 GPA.

Doctor of Education

The Doctor of Education (Ed.D.) at the Fischler College of Education and School of Criminal Justice is a 48-credit applied doctoral program designed to prepare professionals to lead transformative change across educational, nonprofit, corporate, and community contexts. The program emphasizes the integration of theory and practice, cultivating ethical leadership, evidence-informed decision-making, applied research literacy, and the strategic use of technology to address complex, real-world challenges. Through advanced coursework in core, applied research, and concentration areas, students develop the analytical and practical skills required to investigate pressing problems, implement innovative solutions, and contribute to organizational and societal progress. Faculty mentoring and advising are integrated throughout the program to support academic progress, professional development, and the application of scholarship. The program culminates in the Strategic Research Project (SRP). This scholarly, practice-based capstone requires students to identify a complex problem of practice within their professional context, conduct a literature-informed needs analysis, design and evaluate an evidence-based intervention, and disseminate their project through a report and presentation.

Concentrations

Graduates of the Ed.D. program are equipped to lead with integrity, innovate with purpose, and drive meaningful change within their organizations and communities and you can specialize your degree for your field with one of these concentrations:

- Curriculum, Instruction, and Technology
- Educational Leadership
- Higher Education Leadership
- Organizational Leadership
- Special Education

Program Learning Outcomes

Graduates of the Ed.D. program will be able to:

1. Apply evidence-informed strategies and disciplinary knowledge to solve complex problems of practice in professional contexts.
2. Critically analyze and synthesize research, theory, and data to inform decision-making, innovation, and applied scholarship.
3. Use applied inquiry frameworks to design, test, and refine solutions that drive organizational and community impact.
4. Employ data to promote evidence-based decisions and evaluate outcomes.
5. Demonstrate ethical leadership when working with diverse organizations, stakeholders, and communities.
6. Communicate scholarly and professional ideas clearly and effectively through written, oral, and digital modalities tailored to varied audiences.
7. Engage in reflective practice that supports ongoing professional growth and contributions to the field.

Program-Specific Admission Requirements

For general requirements, refer to the Admission section in this catalog.

Enrollment Structure

Ed.D. students are required to take two courses per 16-week term (one 8-week course in Session 1 and one 8-week course in Session 2). This structure provides consistent pacing and ensures timely progression through the program and Strategic Research Project milestones.

Strategic Research Project

The Strategic Research Project is a practice-based, interdisciplinary project rooted in students' professional settings. In this capstone, students identify a strategic challenge, opportunity, or innovation gap and design a product, solution, or initiative aligned with their Ed.D. concentration. The project includes a literature-informed rationale, strategic action plan, proposed product, implementation model, and evaluation framework. Students receive peer and expert feedback to refine their work and present their final project through a final manuscript and a professional oral presentation. Elements of the SRP are developed throughout the program and stored in the Canvas Portfolio to support formative growth and summative integration. This capstone emphasizes scholarly writing, applied leadership, and evidence-based innovation for real-world impact.

The SRP is solely offered in a structured format, designed to be completed as the last step in the student's doctoral program. Once all coursework is completed, students will enroll in one 6-credit course (ESRP 9000: Strategic Research Project I).

The SRP is graded on a Pass/Fail (P/F) basis in accordance with FCE&SCJ official policy.

Program Completion Timeline

Doctor of Education (Ed.D.) students are allotted five (5) years from the initial term of enrollment to complete all required coursework and the Strategic Research Project. Ed.D. students who do not complete all program or degree requirements within the established timeframe of five-years (coursework and the Strategic Research Project) will be subject to academic dismissal.

Graduation Requirements

Please refer to Graduation Information in the NSU/FCE&SCJ Student Handbook at which can be found at <https://www.nova.edu/student-affairs/student-handbooks.html>. Specific program completion requirements are located within each concentration or consult an academic advisor.

To complete the Doctor of Education program, a student must have:

- Completed all required coursework.
- Completed a Strategic Research Project.
- Attained an overall 3.0 GPA.

General Program Requirements

All students enrolled in the Ed.D. program must complete the following required core and research courses (21 credits), choose one area of concentration (21 credits), and complete the Strategic Research Project (6 credits). Total credits required for degree completion equals 48 credits.

Program of Study (Major Code: F871)

Required Core Courses (12 credits)

EDD 8100: Academic Writing (3 credits)

EDD 8010: Emerging Trends and Strategic Innovation in Learning and Organizations (3 credits)

EDD 8110: Designing Transformative Learning Environments (3 credits)

EDD 8411: Data for Impact and Transformation (3 credits)

Required Research Courses (9 credits)

RES 8920: Evidence Based Inquiry for Strategic Research (3 credits)

RES 9300: Innovative Project Planning for Strategic Research (3 credits)

RES 8913: Program Evaluation (3 Credits)

Strategic Research Project (6 credits)

ESRP 9000: Strategic Research Project I (6 credits)*

*ESRP 9000 is the final capstone course and must be taken in the last semester of your degree program. It is a standalone course and cannot be taken concurrently with any other course. This ensures students have the time and focus needed to successfully complete their culminating project.

Concentration Area Courses (21 credits)

Students must select one concentration area (See list above and details below).

Concentration Area: Curriculum, Instruction, and Technology
(Concentration Code F676)

The concentration in Curriculum, Instruction, and Technology prepares leaders to design, implement, evaluate, and improve learning systems across educational settings. Grounded in curriculum studies, learning sciences, instructional design, and evidence-based decision-making, the program emphasizes integrating theory, research, and practice to address complex challenges in teaching and learning.

Students examine curriculum through historical, philosophical, and organizational perspectives while developing expertise in curriculum development, assessment, instructional improvement, and educational innovation. Emphasis is placed on understanding how individuals learn, how learning environments are designed, and how educational systems can be improved to support meaningful learning outcomes. Students develop the professional judgment necessary to evaluate evidence, interpret complex educational contexts, and make informed curricular, instructional, and organizational decisions.

The program explores the role of technology, artificial intelligence, and emerging innovations within curriculum and instructional systems. Through the application of learning sciences, systems thinking, and design-based approaches, students critically evaluate emerging practices and develop the knowledge and skills needed to lead innovation, improve learning outcomes, and create responsive learning environments. Emphasis is placed on the ethical, responsible, and evidence-based use of technology and AI in educational settings.

Graduates are prepared to draw upon theory, research, learning sciences, and data-informed inquiry to exercise professional judgment, generate solutions to complex problems of practice, lead innovation, and make strategic decisions that improve curriculum, instruction, and learning systems while contributing to the advancement of educational practice and policy. Note: This is a non-certification program.

Concentration Learning Outcomes

Graduates of the Ed.D. program with a concentration in Curriculum, Instruction, and Technology will demonstrate mastery of the following learning outcomes as evidenced by their participation in class, participation in problem-based projects, completion of class assignments and presentations, and field-based experiences.

Graduates will be able to:

1. Critically analyze and apply curriculum theory, learning sciences, and instructional research to design, implement, and evaluate learning experiences and educational programs across educational settings.

2. Exercise professional judgment to address complex problems of practice by integrating evidence, theory, contextual factors, and stakeholder perspectives.
3. Design, implement, and evaluate curriculum, instruction, assessment, and learning systems that promote meaningful, accessible, and effective learning outcomes.
4. Use data-informed inquiry and research to investigate educational challenges, evaluate innovations, and support continuous improvement within educational systems.
5. Evaluate and apply emerging technologies, artificial intelligence, and digital learning innovations using ethical, responsible, and evidence-based decision-making processes.
6. Lead organizational change and innovation by applying systems thinking, collaborative leadership, and strategic decision-making to improve teaching, learning, and educational outcomes.
7. Generate, communicate, and apply scholarly knowledge that contributes to the advancement of curriculum, instruction, learning systems, and educational practice.

Concentration Area: Educational Leadership (Concentration Code F872)

The primary goal of the concentration in Educational Leadership (EDL) is to improve our K-12 schools by preparing candidates for leadership and lifelong learning in the fields of K-12 educational administration. The doctoral program fosters an in-depth application of knowledge and skills, inquiry, and research, problem-solving, collaboration and communication, professional development, ethical behavior, and higher order thinking skills.

The graduates of the EDL concentration will be leaders in improving schools and other learning environments; expanding their administrative competence and modeling visionary leadership; advocating and implementing educational improvement using informed action research, effective application of change theory, collaborative decision-making and strategic planning, risk and creativity, and appropriate evaluation; and identifying and addressing contemporary and future educational issues in a changing world. Note: This is a non-certification program.

Concentration Learning Outcomes

Graduates of the Ed.D. program with a concentration in Educational Leadership will demonstrate mastery of the following learning outcomes as evidenced by their participation in class, participation in problem-based projects, completion of class assignments and class presentations, and/or field-based experiences.

Graduates will be able to:

1. Implement a strategic plan that outlines actions for school improvement and their implications.
2. Evaluate the human resource program in terms of human resource planning, recruitment of personnel, selection of personnel, placement and induction of personnel, staff development, evaluation of personnel, compensation of personnel, and collective bargaining (if appropriate).
3. Promote a positive culture within the school or district that includes the design of comprehensive professional growth plans for school personnel.
4. Utilize practical applications of organizational theories to manage the resources, budgeting process, physical plant or plants, organizational operations, and the resources of a school or district.
5. Develop and align the curriculum goals and objectives with instructional strategies appropriate for varied teaching and learning styles and specific student needs.
6. Collaborate with internal and external stakeholders, respond to their interests and needs, and mobilize resources.

Concentration Area: Higher Education Leadership (Concentration Code F874)

The primary goal of the concentration in Higher Education Leadership (HEL) is to prepare students for leadership and lifelong learning in the field of higher education. The doctoral program combines theory and practice with the goal of equipping its graduates with an in-depth knowledge of key leadership skills such as applied research, problem-solving, systems thinking, social intelligence, professional development, and higher order cognitive skills.

The graduates of the Higher Education Leadership concentration will be expected to serve as leaders in improving the academic and administrative performance of colleges and universities by modeling visionary leadership, using action research to drive continuous improvement, creating a collaborative decision-making process, carrying out environmental scans, conducting program evaluations, and identifying and addressing educational challenges of the global economy. Note: This is a non-certification program.

Concentration Learning Outcomes

Graduates of the Ed.D. program with a concentration in Higher Education Leadership will demonstrate mastery of the following learning outcomes as evidenced by their participation in class, participation in problem-based projects, completion of class assignments and class presentation, and/or field-based experiences.

Graduates will be able to:

1. Examine the institution's internal and external forces to proactively plan change.
2. Employ the skills and strategies needed to lead higher education institutions in the 21st century.
3. Develop an understanding of and vision for the academic mission of higher educational institutions that affirms and values its society.
4. Respond to the needs of the institution's stakeholders while addressing real-world problems.
5. Manage the human, financial, and technological resources and data to make informed, ethical, and legal decisions.
6. Analyze the factors that influence the delivery of higher education in a global marketplace.

Concentration Area: Organizational Leadership
(Concentration Code F878)

The primary purpose of the concentration in Organizational Leadership (OL) is to build upon the capacities of adult learners to meet both current and future challenges facing their organizations. Organizational leaders must acquire the skills to lead in the context of a changing economy, growing globalism, and rapidly developing technology. The OL concentration has been designed to meet the needs of practitioners by linking theory to best practices. The curriculum presents students with strategic opportunities to develop professionally and to apply their knowledge and skills to lead organizations effectively into the future. Note: This is a non-certification program.

Concentration Learning Outcomes

Graduates of the Ed.D. program with a concentration in Organizational Leadership will demonstrate proficiency in the following learning outcomes as evidenced by their participation in class, application of problem-based learning, completion of class assignments and presentations, and/or field experiences.

Graduates will be able to:

1. Demonstrate global and virtual leadership competencies by applying cross-cultural awareness, digital collaboration strategies, and inclusive practices to lead diverse teams effectively.

2. Design and implement strategies that enhance organizational effectiveness and talent development, leveraging evidence-based approaches to build capacity, improve performance, and sustain professional growth.
3. Apply strategic planning and change leadership frameworks to guide organizational transformation, manage resistance, and foster cultures of innovation and adaptability.
4. Employ critical thinking decision-making to analyze complex problems, evaluate alternatives, and implement ethical, evidence-based solutions.
5. Examine ethical principles and governance practices to advocate for accountability, transparency, and responsible leadership in diverse organizational settings.
6. Foster innovation and adaptive leadership by developing creative solutions to strategic challenges and aligning them with organizational missions in rapidly changing environments.

Concentration Area: Special Education (Concentration Code F879)

The Doctor of Education (Ed.D.) program, with a concentration in Special Education, is designed for school- and agency-based professionals seeking leadership positions in organizations serving individuals with disabilities and their families, as well as those pursuing faculty roles at colleges or universities. The program includes advanced coursework, seminars, and research that develop applied, practice-based leadership skills for roles in academic settings, service agencies, policy and advocacy organizations, and research institutions. Coursework emphasizes critical and reflective thinking, remaining responsive to regulatory changes in the field. Note: This is a non-certification program.

Concentration Learning Outcomes

The FCE&SCJ, in concert with the mission of NSU, has established overarching goals for doctoral programs offered within the school. There are seven broad outcomes anticipated for students who successfully complete the Ed.D. in Special Education.

Graduates will be able to:

1. Implement collaborative teaming approaches for the purpose of decision making related to the application of current research, curriculum development and interagency collaboration with school and agency staff, individuals with disabilities, and family members to improve outcomes attained by individuals with disabilities.

2. Employ analytical skills to identify and resolve problems in the delivery of special education and related services while promoting accountability and school renewal.
3. Employ analytical skills to identify and resolve problems in the effective and ethical delivery of direct services provided by human services agencies (e.g., training in self-determination, independent living, supported employment, advocacy, and associated life skills).
4. Apply the laws, regulations, and policies from the federal, state, and district levels that relate to individuals with disabilities and their families in educational, employment, and other community settings, as well as with regard to advocacy concerns.
5. Synthesize research from peer-reviewed journals to formulate a conceptual and theoretical framework to identify and address challenges that affect individuals with disabilities, to generate potential solutions to challenges, and to understand and influence disability related policies and practices.
6. Utilize current research for the purpose of substantiating ideas posited during academic discourse/discussions in both course participation activities and in subsequent professional settings.
7. Supervise the organization and administration of programs in special education, direct service agencies, and/or other organizations that serve individuals with disabilities and their families.

Concentration: Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages (TESOL) (Major Code F660)

About the Concentration

The M.S. in Education with a concentration in Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages (TESOL) focuses on the study of literacy development for non-native English speakers. This program melds theoretical instruction with hands-on experiences, arming students with research-based methods and best practices for teaching English in both domestic and international settings. Students in this program select from a broad range of courses to develop a customized program of study that best aligns with their professional goals. In addition, applicants will need English language proficiency by one of the methods indicated in the Non-Native English Speakers section of this catalog.

Courses are offered on a rotating basis. Students will work closely with their advisor and department faculty to plan a program of study that best fits their needs.

Note: Select coursework within this program may align with the Puerto Rico Department of Education (PRDOE) requirements for K–12 Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages (TESOL) teacher recertification. Eligibility for recertification is determined solely by PRDOE. Students are responsible for verifying current requirements.

Educational Specialist (Ed.S.)

This degree program offers the following concentrations:

Concentration: Educational Leadership (Major Code F534)

About the Concentration

The Ed.S. with a concentration in Educational Leadership focuses on preparing prekindergarten through 12th-grade teachers for administrative positions in public and nonpublic schools and school systems. This concentration provides educators with leadership skills through practical application and provides broad knowledge of social, political, and economic forces at work in society that affect education. The course's content is research-based and infuses best practices in education.

*Note: Select coursework within this program may align with the Puerto Rico Department of Education (PRDOE) requirements for the School Principal certification as well as the requirements for the Educational Facilitator (Facilitador Docente) Certification, which is determined solely by PRDOE. Students are responsible for verifying current requirements.

Doctor of Education

The Doctor of Education (Ed.D.) at the Fischler College of Education and School of Criminal Justice is a 48-credit applied doctoral program designed to prepare professionals to lead transformative change across educational, nonprofit, corporate, and community contexts. The program emphasizes the integration of theory and practice, cultivating ethical leadership, evidence-informed decision-making, applied research literacy, and the strategic use of technology to address complex, real-world challenges. Through advanced coursework in core, applied research, and concentration areas, students develop the analytical and practical skills required to investigate pressing problems, implement innovative solutions, and contribute to organizational and societal progress. Faculty mentoring and advising are integrated throughout the program to support academic progress, professional development, and the application of scholarship. The program culminates in the Strategic Research Project (SRP). This scholarly, practice-based capstone requires students to identify a complex problem of practice within their professional context, conduct a literature-informed needs analysis, design and evaluate an evidence-based intervention, and disseminate their project through a report and presentation.

Concentrations

Graduates of the Ed.D. program are equipped to lead with integrity, innovate with purpose, and drive meaningful change within their organizations and communities and you can specialize your degree for your field with one of these concentrations:

- Curriculum, Instruction, and Technology
- Early Childhood and Elementary Education (Puerto Rico Only)
- Educational Leadership
- Healthcare Education (Puerto Rico Only)
- Organizational Leadership
- Special Education

Program Learning Outcomes

Graduates of the Ed.D. program will be able to:

1. Apply evidence-informed strategies and disciplinary knowledge to solve complex problems of practice in professional contexts.
2. Critically analyze and synthesize research, theory, and data to inform decision-making, innovation, and applied scholarship.
3. Use applied inquiry frameworks to design, test, and refine solutions that drive organizational and community impact.
4. Employ data to promote evidence-based decisions and evaluate outcomes.
5. Demonstrate ethical leadership when working with diverse organizations, stakeholders, and communities.
6. Communicate scholarly and professional ideas clearly and effectively through written, oral, and digital modalities tailored to varied audiences.
7. Engage in reflective practice that supports ongoing professional growth and contributions to the field.

Program-Specific Admission Requirements

For general requirements, refer to the Admission section in this catalog.

Enrollment Structure

Ed.D. students are required to take two courses per 16-week term (one 8-week course in Session 1 and one 8-week course in Session 2). This structure provides consistent pacing and ensures timely progression through the program and Strategic Research Project milestones.

Strategic Research Project

The Strategic Research Project is a practice-based, interdisciplinary project rooted in students' professional settings. In this capstone, students identify a strategic challenge, opportunity, or innovation gap and design a product, solution, or initiative aligned with their Ed.D. concentration. The project includes a literature-informed rationale, strategic action plan, proposed product, implementation model, and evaluation framework. Students receive peer and expert feedback to refine their work and present their final project through a final manuscript and a professional oral presentation. Elements of the SRP are developed throughout the program and stored in the Canvas Portfolio to support formative growth and summative integration. This capstone emphasizes scholarly writing, applied leadership, and evidence-based innovation for real-world impact.

The SRP is solely offered in a structured format, designed to be completed as the last step in the student's doctoral program. Once all coursework is completed, students will enroll in one 6-credit course (ESRP 9000: Strategic Research Project I).

The SRP is graded on a Pass/Fail (P/F) basis in accordance with FCE&SCJ official policy.

Program Completion Timeline

Doctor of Education (Ed.D.) students are allotted five (5) years from the initial term of enrollment to complete all required coursework and the Strategic Research Project. Ed.D. students who do not complete all program or degree requirements within the established timeframe of five-years (coursework and the Strategic Research Project) will be subject to academic dismissal.

Graduation Requirements

Please refer to Graduation Information in the NSU/FCE&SCJ Student Handbook at which can be found at <https://www.nova.edu/student-affairs/student-handbooks.html>. Specific program completion requirements are located within each concentration or consult an academic advisor.

To complete the Doctor of Education program, a student must have:

- Completed all required coursework.
- Completed a Strategic Research Project.
- Attained an overall 3.0 GPA.

General Program Requirements

All students enrolled in the Ed.D. program must complete the following required core and research courses (21 credits), choose one area of concentration (21 credits), and complete the Strategic Research Project (6 credits). Total credits required for degree completion equals 48 credits.

Program of Study (Major Code: F871)

Required Core Courses (12 credits)

EDD 8100: Academic Writing (3 credits)

EDD 8010: Emerging Trends and Strategic Innovation in Learning and Organizations (3 credits)

EDD 8110: Designing Transformative Learning Environments (3 credits)

EDD 8411: Data for Impact and Transformation (3 credits)

Required Research Courses (9 credits)

RES 8920: Evidence Based Inquiry for Strategic Research (3 credits)

RES 9300: Innovative Project Planning for Strategic Research (3 credits)

RES 8913: Program Evaluation (3 Credits)

Strategic Research Project (6 credits)

ESRP 9000: Strategic Research Project I (6 credits)*

*ESRP 9000 is the final capstone course and must be taken in the last semester of your degree program. It is a standalone course and cannot be taken concurrently with any other course. This ensures students have the time and focus needed to successfully complete their culminating project.

Concentration Area Courses (21 credits)

Students must select one concentration area.

Total Credits for Completion 48

Concentration Area: Curriculum, Instruction, and Technology
(Concentration Code F676)

The concentration in Curriculum, Instruction, and Technology prepares leaders to design, implement, evaluate, and improve learning systems across educational settings. Grounded in curriculum studies, learning sciences, instructional design, and evidence-based decision-making, the program emphasizes integrating theory, research, and practice to address complex challenges in teaching and learning.

Students examine curriculum through historical, philosophical, and organizational perspectives while developing expertise in curriculum development, assessment, instructional improvement, and educational innovation. Emphasis is placed on understanding how individuals learn, how learning environments are designed, and how educational systems can be improved to support meaningful learning outcomes. Students develop the professional judgment necessary to evaluate evidence, interpret complex educational contexts, and make informed curricular, instructional, and organizational decisions.

The program explores the role of technology, artificial intelligence, and emerging innovations within curriculum and instructional systems. Through the application of learning sciences, systems thinking, and design-based approaches, students critically evaluate emerging practices and develop the knowledge and skills needed to lead innovation, improve learning outcomes, and create responsive learning environments. Emphasis is placed on the ethical, responsible, and evidence-based use of technology and AI in educational settings.

Graduates are prepared to draw upon theory, research, learning sciences, and data-informed inquiry to exercise professional judgment, generate solutions to complex problems of practice, lead innovation, and make strategic decisions that improve curriculum, instruction, and learning systems while contributing to the advancement of educational practice and policy. Note: This is a non-certification program.

Concentration Learning Outcomes

Graduates of the Ed.D. program with a concentration in Curriculum, Instruction, and Technology will demonstrate mastery of the following learning outcomes as evidenced by their participation in class, participation in problem-based projects, completion of class assignments and presentations, and field-based experiences.

Graduates will be able to:

1. Critically analyze and apply curriculum theory, learning sciences, and instructional research to design, implement, and evaluate learning experiences and educational programs across educational settings.
2. Exercise professional judgment to address complex problems of practice by integrating evidence, theory, contextual factors, and stakeholder perspectives.
3. Design, implement, and evaluate curriculum, instruction, assessment, and learning systems that promote meaningful, accessible, and effective learning outcomes.
4. Use data-informed inquiry and research to investigate educational challenges, evaluate innovations, and support continuous improvement within educational systems.
5. Evaluate and apply emerging technologies, artificial intelligence, and digital learning innovations using ethical, responsible, and evidence-based decision-making processes.
6. Lead organizational change and innovation by applying systems thinking, collaborative leadership, and strategic decision-making to improve teaching, learning, and educational outcomes.
7. Generate, communicate, and apply scholarly knowledge that contributes to the advancement of curriculum, instruction, learning systems, and educational practice.

Concentration Area: Early Childhood and Elementary Education – (Puerto Rico Only) (Concentration Code F124)

This Early Childhood and Elementary Education concentration is crafted for educators who aspire to enhance their impact on students from preschool through fifth grade. With a focus on child development and instructional innovation, the program empowers professionals to meet the complex academic and emotional needs of today's learners. Students engage in coursework that explores curriculum design, society and family involvement, child advocacy, and comprehensive educational practices. Special attention is given to the context of Puerto Rico, with content tailored to align with local laws and educational priorities. This concentration offers the flexibility needed by working professionals while maintaining academic excellence. Graduates will be prepared to lead and implement effective, evidence-based strategies that promote student success in early childhood and elementary education settings. Note: This is a non-certification program.

Note: Select coursework within this program may align with the Puerto Rico Department of Education (PRDOE) requirements for Ed.D. in Early Childhood and Elementary Education eligibility for recertification, which is determined solely by PRDOE. Students are responsible for verifying current requirements.

Concentration Learning Outcomes

Graduates of the Ed.D. program with a concentration in Early Childhood and Elementary Education will demonstrate mastery of the following learning outcomes as evidenced by their participation in class, participation in problem-based projects, completion of class assignments and class presentation, and/or field-based experiences.

Graduates will be able to:

1. Evaluate and apply foundational theories and research to strengthen teaching and leadership in early learning environments.
2. Create curricula that promote the cognitive, social, and emotional development of children from preschool through fifth grade.
3. Assess how societal and legislative factors influence student learning and school operations, particularly in the Puerto Rican context.
4. Develop effective instructional strategies that engage families and communities in the learning process.
5. Promote the well-being and rights of children by designing advocacy initiatives grounded in research and best practices.
6. Integrate STEM and cross-curricular approaches to foster creativity, critical thinking, and problem-solving skills among young learners.
7. Lead educational improvements through the development of innovative programs and policies informed by local needs and current research.

Concentration Area: Educational Leadership (Concentration Code F872)

The primary goal of the concentration in Educational Leadership (EDL) is to improve our K-12 schools by preparing candidates for leadership and lifelong learning in the fields of K-12 educational administration. The doctoral program fosters an in-depth application of knowledge and skills, inquiry, and research, problem-solving, collaboration and communication, professional development, ethical behavior, and higher order thinking skills.

The graduates of the EDL concentration will be leaders in improving schools and other learning environments; expanding their administrative competence and modeling visionary leadership; advocating and implementing educational improvement using informed action research, effective application of change theory, collaborative decision-making and strategic planning, risk and creativity, and appropriate evaluation; and identifying and addressing contemporary and future educational issues in a changing world. Note: This is a non-certification program.

Note: Select coursework within this program may align with the Puerto Rico Department of Education (PRDOE) requirements for Ed.D. in Early Childhood and Elementary Education eligibility for recertification, which is determined solely by PRDOE. Students are responsible for verifying current requirements.

Concentration Learning Outcomes

Graduates of the Ed.D. program with a concentration in Educational Leadership will demonstrate mastery of the following learning outcomes as evidenced by their participation in class, participation in problem-based projects, completion of class assignments and class presentation, and/or field-based experiences.

Graduates will be able to:

1. Implement a strategic plan that outlines actions for school improvement and their implications.
2. Evaluate the human resource program in terms of human resource planning, recruitment of personnel, selection of personnel, placement and induction of personnel, staff development, evaluation of personnel, compensation of personnel, and collective bargaining (if appropriate).
3. Promote a positive culture within the school or district that includes the design of comprehensive professional growth plans for school personnel.
4. Utilize practical applications of organizational theories to manage the resources, budgeting process, physical plant or plants, organizational operations, and the resources of a school or district.
5. Develop and align the curriculum goals and objectives with instructional strategies appropriate for varied teaching and learning styles and specific student needs.
6. Collaborate with internal and external stakeholders, respond to their interests and needs, and mobilize resources.

Concentration Area: Healthcare Education – (Puerto Rico Only) (Concentration Code F873)

The primary goal of the concentration in Health Care Education (HCE) is to prepare practicing educators and trainers, clinicians, and allied health professionals as facilitators, innovators, leaders, consultants, and instructional designers for the effective delivery of health information and education in academic, institutional, and public community-based settings including schools, universities, hospitals, long term and rehabilitation centers, mental health clinics, public and community organizations, and private practice. The doctoral program fosters an in-depth application of knowledge and skills, inquiry, and research, problem-solving, collaboration and communication, professional development, higher-order thinking skills, and ethical conduct.

Graduates of the Health Care Education concentration will foster quality of life, health promotion, disease prevention, and healthcare policy in collaboration with multidisciplinary healthcare practitioners, clients, their families, and community stakeholders. They will act as leaders in influencing current and future issues in health care reform, technology utilization, and professionalism in applying best practices in health care education. Note: This is a non-certification program.

Concentration Learning Outcomes

Graduates of the Ed.D. program with a concentration in Health Care Education will demonstrate mastery of the following learning outcomes as evidenced by their participation in class, participation in problem-based projects, completion of class assignments and class presentations, and/or field-based experiences.

Graduates will be able to:

1. Analyze learning needs in healthcare organizations by identifying and assessing relevant trends and issues.
2. Assess the impact of academic and educational programs on healthcare staff in dealing with clients, families, and communities.
3. Synthesize innovative educational interventions and best practices in health care education to affect behavioral, lifestyle, and compliance in defined client populations.
4. Evaluate implications for education and training caused by operational restructuring of health care organizations and client care delivery.
5. Evaluate and comply with legal aspects and regulatory requirements of health care education relating to politics, ethics, and law.
6. Analyze the development of health care policy including relevant social forces, economics, governing of client rights, workplace rights, and safety and risks in health care environments.

Concentration Area: Organizational Leadership (Concentration Code F878)

The primary purpose of the concentration in Organizational Leadership (OL) is to build upon the capacities of adult learners to meet both current and future challenges facing their organizations. Organizational leaders must acquire the skills to lead in the context of a changing economy, growing globalism, and rapidly developing technology. The OL concentration has been designed to meet the needs of practitioners by linking theory to best practices. The curriculum presents students with strategic opportunities to develop professionally and to apply their knowledge and skills to lead organizations effectively into the future. Note: This is a non-certification program.

Note: Select coursework within this program may align with the Puerto Rico Department of Education (PRDOE) requirements for Ed.D. in Early Childhood and Elementary Education eligibility for recertification, which is determined solely by PRDOE. Students are responsible for verifying current requirements.

Concentration Learning Outcomes

Graduates of the Ed.D. program with a concentration in Organizational Leadership will demonstrate proficiency in the following learning outcomes as evidenced by their participation in class, application of problem-based learning, completion of class assignments and presentations, and/or field experiences.

Graduates will be able to:

1. Demonstrate global and virtual leadership competencies by applying cross-cultural awareness, digital collaboration strategies, and inclusive practices to lead diverse teams effectively.
2. Design and implement strategies that enhance organizational effectiveness and talent development, leveraging evidence-based approaches to build capacity, improve performance, and sustain professional growth.
3. Apply strategic planning and change leadership frameworks to guide organizational transformation, manage resistance, and foster cultures of innovation and adaptability.
4. Employ critical thinking decision-making to analyze complex problems, evaluate alternatives, and implement ethical, evidence-based solutions.
5. Examine ethical principles and governance practices to advocate for accountability, transparency, and responsible leadership in diverse organizational settings.
6. Foster innovation and adaptive leadership by developing creative solutions to strategic challenges and aligning them with organizational missions in rapidly changing environments.

Concentration Area: Special Education (Concentration Code F879)

The FCE&SCJ programs in Special Education prepare professionals to assume positions as educators, administrators, consultants, and disability service providers. The Doctor of Education (Ed.D.) program, with a concentration in Special Education, addresses the academic and professional needs of both school-based and agency-based personnel who currently hold or aspire to attain positions of leadership in organizations that serve individuals with disabilities and their families. The program also provides critical knowledge for those who are seeking college/university faculty positions. The program includes advanced coursework, seminars, research activities, and applied field experiences that provide the knowledge and skills necessary to effectively perform leadership positions in academic settings, direct service agencies, advocacy and policy organizations, and research institutes.

Courses emphasize the application of critical and reflective thinking skills in both theoretical and practical learning settings and opportunities. Course content is fluid, timely, and responsive to regulatory changes in the field to ensure the delivery of a current, relevant, and culturally competent program of study. Note: This is a non-certification program.

Note: Select coursework within this program may align with the Puerto Rico Department of Education (PRDOE) requirements for Ed.D. in Early Childhood and Elementary Education eligibility for recertification, which is determined solely by PRDOE. Students are responsible for verifying current requirements.

Concentration Learning Outcomes

The FCE&SCJ, in concert with the mission of NSU, has established overarching goals for doctoral programs offered within the school. There are seven broad outcomes anticipated for students who successfully complete the Ed.D. in Special Education.

Graduates will be able to:

1. Implement collaborative teaming approaches for the purpose of decision making related to the application of current research, curriculum development and interagency collaboration with school and agency staff, individuals with disabilities, and family members to improve outcomes attained by individuals with disabilities.
2. Employ analytical skills to identify and resolve problems in the delivery of special education and related services while promoting accountability and school renewal.

3. Employ analytical skills to identify and resolve problems in the effective and ethical delivery of direct services provided by human services agencies (e.g., training in self-determination, independent living, supported employment, advocacy, and associated life skills).
4. Apply the laws, regulations, and policies from the federal, state, and district levels that relate to individuals with disabilities and their families in educational, employment, and other community settings, as well as with regard to advocacy concerns.
5. Synthesize research from peer-reviewed journals to formulate a conceptual and theoretical framework to identify and address challenges that affect individuals with disabilities, to generate potential solutions to challenges, and to understand and influence disability related policies and practices.
6. Utilize current research for the purpose of substantiating ideas posited during academic discourse/discussions in both course participation activities and in subsequent professional settings.
7. Supervise the organization and administration of programs in special education, direct service agencies, and/or other organizations that serve individuals with disabilities and their families.

Concentration Area Courses (21 credits)

SPED 8401: Special Education Law and Policy (3 credits)

SPED 8403: Conferencing with Parents and Families of Individuals with Disabilities (3 credits)

SPED 8404: Organization and Administration of Special Education Programs (3 credits)

SPED 8406: Transition, Career Development, and Independent Living (3 credits)

SPED 8410: Assessment and Evaluation of Special Needs, Cognitive and Behavioral (3 credits)

SPED 8802: Seminar in the Nature of Students with Autism Spectrum Disorder (3 credits)

SPED 8804: Advanced Topics in Interventions for Students with Autism Spectrum Disorder (3 credits)

Note: Coursework within these degree programs may be accepted for recertification purposes, subject to approval by the Puerto Rico Department of Education; however, these degree programs are not state-approved and do not lead to professional licensure.

Doctor of Philosophy in Criminal Justice

The Doctor of Philosophy (Ph.D.) in Criminal Justice is a research degree. Inherent to its design are the rigorous academics that produce a critical scholar. The program is intended for students who have mastered a general field of knowledge as well as an area of specialization. They should demonstrate familiarity with the history of their discipline as well as with current advancements and future trends. Students must have the ability to conduct independent original research and scholarly investigation in areas of significant importance. They should be able to correlate their specialization with a general field of knowledge and understand how the concepts of each influence and relate to one another.

This 60-credit hour doctoral program opens opportunities in areas of research, academia, and management to those who are ready to advance, as well as to individuals considering a career change. Management perspectives, investigative techniques, and the understanding of human behavior continue to evolve. Criminal behavior impacts legal, social, and cultural influences. A detailed understanding of these factors and their interrelationships prepares an individual in the criminal justice field with a solid foundation upon which to perform, teach, and lead. The doctoral program examines these relationships and seeks to produce individuals able to make significant contributions within the criminal justice profession.

Program Learning Outcomes

At the completion of the degree, students will be able to:

1. Apply existing criminal justice theory to current research practices.
2. Analyze the history of criminal justice in the United States and identify significant events and their relation to current trends and policies.
3. Discuss current trends and issues in criminal justice and what they indicate in the future.
4. Evaluate current methods of crime control and prevention and identify weaknesses and strengths of each.
5. Apply scientific research methods to examine issues and questions of significance in the criminal justice field.
6. Evaluate scholarly papers and articles against well-recognized standards of research design and data interpretation.
7. Evaluate research results for validity and document these findings.
8. Use appropriate and ethical research methods to develop policies and procedures that advance the mission of criminal justice systems.
9. Carry out meaningful individual research and dissertation in the dissertation product.

Admission Requirements

Admission to the doctoral program in Criminal Justice will be determined according to established university policies. The department will make a concerted effort to select only those students who are clearly best qualified for the rigors and responsibility of advanced study.

The following is required of all applicants for the doctoral degree in Criminal Justice:

10. Complete online application form.
11. Application fee of $50 (in U.S. dollars) made payable to Nova Southeastern University will be charged for each application submitted.
12. Completion of a Master's degree from a regionally accredited University with a GPA 3.0 for master's level work. Among those who hold doctoral degrees in Criminal Justice it is not unusual to find individuals who have earned graduate degrees in other fields such as Psychology, Sociology, Anthropology, and Political Science. This recognizes that criminal justice is not restricted to a particular kind of academic preparation for it shares aspects of many others. This multi-dimensional approach to academic study is repeated in the field as practitioners engage in research, problem solving and system reform.
13. Official transcripts for Doctoral degrees - Sealed official transcripts from the applicants conferred master's degree institution attended (excluding CAS program applications and international student applications). Sealed official transcripts from the applicants conferred bachelor's degree institution attended may be required dependent upon admission criteria of the doctoral program. If a student is seeking to transfer in college or institutional credits, toward the degree applying to, and it is different from where the applicant earned a 4-year bachelor's degree and/or master's degree, the admissions office may require sealed official transcripts from that institution. All CAS program applicants are required to submit sealed official transcripts from all institutions attended, per CAS requirements.

Official electronic transcripts can be sent to electronictranscript@nova.edu or mailed. Applicants who have attended foreign universities or colleges are required to have their academic credentials evaluated for U.S. institutional equivalence. Please visit the National Association of Credential Evaluation Services for more information. International students are encouraged to contact the Office of International Student Services at (954) 262-7240 or 800-541-6682, ext. 27240, or by email at intl@nova.edu, or visit the Office of International Students and Scholars.

14. One of the following must be submitted:
 - a. Copy of completed master's thesis or equivalent capstone deliverable; the paper must reflect original work, be exclusively of the applicant's authorship and should have been supervised and evaluated by a faculty member;
 - b. GRE score of 300 or better on the combined verbal and quantitative sections based on the new score reports. Test scores are valid for five years after the testing year in which the student was tested;
 - c. Sample of published work from a refereed publication within the criminal justice or related discipline
 - d. Successful completion of J.D. or doctorate in related field.
15. Submit a copy of current curriculum vitae.
16. Complete an interview with program faculty.
17. It is preferred that the Criminal Justice doctoral candidate have a background that encourages and enables him or her to conduct serious academic research across a variety of subject areas. Encouraging students with graduate degrees other than criminal justice to join the program furthers this objective.
18. The student's background should reflect strong dedication to the field of criminal justice either through academic or professional endeavors. Academic achievement would be represented by experience as an instructor/researcher or administrator within a university or criminal justice training facility. Professional history may include years of progressively responsible administrative positions within a criminal justice agency.

How to Apply

Those interested in seeking their Doctor of Philosophy in Criminal Justice should apply online at: <https://education.nova.edu/degrees/doctoral/criminal-justice/index.html> where an application and all necessary application information may be obtained.

Orientation Information

The School of Criminal Justice (SCJ) students will be provided with important orientation information, via e-mail, after the signed acceptance letter and seat deposit are received by the SCJ program office. A synchronous (live) orientation session is held prior to the start of the Fall term. Students are strongly advised to attend this session to learn more about the program's expectations and to meet their classmates and professors along with program staff and administrators.

Academic Advisement

Students seeking academic advisement or degree planning should consult with an Academic Advisor by calling 954/262-8500 or via email at fceadvise@nova.edu.

Graduation Requirements

Please refer to Graduation Information in the NSU/FCE&SCJ Student Handbook at which can be found at <https://www.nova.edu/student-affairs/student-handbooks.html>. Specific program completion requirements are located within each concentration or consult an academic advisor.

To complete the Doctor of Philosophy in Criminal Justice program a student must have:

- completed all required coursework;
- attained an overall 3.0 GPA;
- successfully completed and defended dissertation; and
- fulfilled all financial obligations to the university for the diploma and transcript to be released.

Program Completion Timeline

Doctor of Philosophy (Ph.D.) students are allotted five (5) years from the initial term of enrollment to complete all required coursework and the dissertation.

Students may be granted an additional two (2) years, for a maximum of seven (7) years, only if they have a dissertation proposal approved and defended by the end of Year 5. Failure to meet this requirement may result in academic dismissal.

Students who do not complete all program or degree requirements within the established seven-years' timeframe will be subject to academic dismissal.

Educational Specialist (Ed.S.) Degree in Curriculum, Instruction, Management, and Administration (CIMA) for Online Bilingual (English/Spanish) Students

The Educational Specialist degree (Ed.S.) offers the professional educator both a challenging and rewarding educational experience. The curriculum focuses on growth in professional practice, application of current research and theory to each student's professional work, acquisition and enhancement of leadership capacities, and the achievement of career objectives. Technological advancement will continue to impact the program, enabling students to obtain their degrees from virtually any location.

Admission Process

The following are general admission requirements that apply to all prospective Abraham S. Fischler College of Education and School of Criminal Justice (FCE&SCJ) graduate students. Additional admission requirements for each program are outlined within each program's section in this catalog. For assistance with the admission process, please contact the Office of Admissions (toll-free at 800-986-3223, ext. 28500) or visit: <https://education.nova.edu/admissions/graduate.html>.

3. All prospective students must submit a completed application with a $50.00 non-refundable fee. A $50.00 application fee is required for each application submitted to Nova Southeastern University.
4. Official transcripts for Educational Specialist degrees - Sealed official transcripts from the applicants conferred master's degree institution attended (excluding CAS program applications and international student applications). Sealed official transcripts from the applicants conferred bachelor's degree institution attended may be required dependent upon admission criteria of the educational specialist program. If a student is seeking to transfer in college or institutional credits, toward the degree applying to, and it is different from where the applicant earned a 4-year bachelor's degree and/or master's degree, the admissions office may require sealed official transcripts from that institution. All CAS program applicants are required to submit sealed official transcripts from all institutions attended, per CAS requirements.
 - An official transcript from a regionally accredited institution indicating a conferred master's degree or higher (e.g., Ed.S.) with a minimum cumulative grade point average (CGPA) of 3.0.

- Transcripts should be forwarded directly from the issuing institution in a sealed envelope in order to be considered official. Applicants submitting electronic transcripts should provide this email address with their request: electronictranscript@nova.edu.
 - For NSU to consider an electronic transcript official, it must be received from a reputable third-party delivery agent. NSU accepts electronic transcripts from the following providers: SCOIR, Parchment, National Student Clearinghouse. Transcripts emailed by individuals will not be accepted as official. Third-party delivery agents may email official electronic transcripts to: electronictranscript@nova.edu.
 - Photocopies and facsimiles will not be accepted as final, official transcripts.
 - Admission decisions are based on degrees earned at regionally accredited institutions or an official approved equivalent such as an evaluation by one of the National Association of Credential Evaluation Services (NACES) approved agencies. The evaluation must include a course-by-course analysis and list all course subjects with United States semester credits and a GPA on a 4.0 scale. For more information, refer to the Transcript Evaluation section.
5. Applicants may be provisionally admitted based on a preliminary review of unofficial transcripts and/or program-specific admission requirements. However, full admission to any degree program requires the submission of all final, official documents required for admission within 45 calendar days from the official start date of the session/term. Only fully admitted students are eligible for financial aid. Once provisional acceptance is granted, a student who does not attain full admittance within 45 calendar days from the official start date of the session/term will not be permitted to continue his/her studies. Registration will be prohibited, and other services may be suspended.

Doctor of Education (Ed.D.) Degree in Organizational Leadership for Online Bilingual (English/Spanish) Students

The Doctor of Education (Ed.D.) at the Fischler College of Education and School of Criminal Justice is a 48-credit applied doctoral program designed to prepare professionals to lead transformative change across educational, nonprofit, corporate, and community contexts. The program emphasizes the integration of theory and practice, cultivating ethical leadership, evidence-informed decision-making, applied research literacy, and the strategic use of technology to address complex, real-world challenges. Through advanced coursework in core, applied research, and concentration areas, students develop the analytical and practical skills required to investigate pressing problems, implement innovative solutions, and contribute to organizational and societal progress. Faculty mentoring and advising are integrated throughout the program to support academic progress, professional development, and the application of scholarship. The program culminates in the Strategic Research Project (SRP). This scholarly, practice-based capstone requires students to identify a complex problem of practice within their professional context, conduct a literature-informed needs analysis, design and evaluate an evidence-based intervention, and disseminate their project through a report and presentation.

Concentration

Graduates of the Ed.D. program are equipped to lead with integrity, innovate with purpose, and drive meaningful change within their organizations and communities and you can specialize your degree for your field with this concentration:

- Organizational Leadership

Program Learning Outcomes

Graduates of the Ed.D. program will be able to:

1. Apply evidence-informed strategies and disciplinary knowledge to solve complex problems of practice in professional contexts.
2. Critically analyze and synthesize research, theory, and data to inform decision-making, innovation, and applied scholarship.
3. Use applied inquiry frameworks to design, test, and refine solutions that drive organizational and community impact.
4. Employ data to promote evidence-based decisions and evaluate outcomes.
5. Demonstrate ethical leadership when working with diverse organizations, stakeholders, and communities.
6. Communicate scholarly and professional ideas clearly and effectively through written, oral, and digital modalities tailored to varied audiences.
7. Engage in reflective practice that supports ongoing professional growth and contributions to the field.

Program-Specific Admission Requirements

For general requirements, refer to the Admission section in this catalog.

Enrollment Structure

Ed.D. students are required to take two courses per 16-week term (one 8-week course in Session 1 and one 8-week course in Session 2). This structure provides consistent pacing and ensures timely progression through the program and Strategic Research Project milestones.

Strategic Research Project

The Strategic Research Project is a practice-based, interdisciplinary project rooted in students' professional settings. In this capstone, students identify a strategic challenge, opportunity, or innovation gap and design a product, solution, or initiative aligned with their Ed.D. concentration. The project includes a literature-informed rationale, strategic action plan, proposed product, implementation model, and evaluation framework. Students receive peer and expert feedback to refine their work and present their final project through a final manuscript and a professional oral presentation. Elements of the SRP are developed throughout the program and stored in the Canvas Portfolio to support formative growth and summative integration. This capstone emphasizes scholarly writing, applied leadership, and evidence-based innovation for real-world impact.

The SRP is solely offered in a structured format, designed to be completed as the last step in the student's doctoral program. Once all coursework is completed, students will enroll in one 6-credit course (ESRP 9000: Strategic Research Project I).

The SRP is graded on a Pass/Fail (P/F) basis in accordance with FCE&SCJ official policy.

Program Completion Timeline

Doctor of Education (Ed.D.) students are allotted five (5) years from the initial term of enrollment to complete all required coursework and the Strategic Research Project. Ed.D. students who do not complete all program or degree requirements within the established timeframe of five-years (coursework and the Strategic Research Project) will be subject to academic dismissal.

Graduation Requirements

Please refer to Graduation Information in the NSU/FCE&SCJ Student Handbook at which can be found at <https://www.nova.edu/student-affairs/student-handbooks.html>. Specific program completion requirements are located within each concentration or consult an academic advisor.

To complete the Doctor of Education program, a student must have:

- Completed all required coursework.
- Completed a Strategic Research Project.
- Attained an overall 3.0 GPA.

General Program Requirements

All students enrolled in the Ed.D. program must complete the following required core and research courses (21 credits), choose one area of concentration (21 credits), and complete the Strategic Research Project (6 credits). Total credits required for degree completion equals 48 credits.

Program of Study (Major Code: F871)

Required Core Courses (12 credits)

EDD 8100: Academic Writing (3 credits)

EDD 8010: Emerging Trends and Strategic Innovation in Learning and Organizations (3 credits)

EDD 8110: Designing Transformative Learning Environments (3 credits)

EDD 8411: Data for Impact and Transformation (3 credits)

Required Research Courses (9 credits)

RES 8920: Evidence Based Inquiry for Strategic Research I (3 credits)

RES 9300: Innovative Project Planning for Strategic Research (3 credits)

RES 8913: Program Evaluation (3 Credits)

Strategic Research Project (6 credits)

ESRP 9000: Strategic Research Project I (6 credits)*

*ESRP 9000 is the final capstone course and must be taken in the last semester of your degree program. It is a standalone course and cannot be taken concurrently with any other course. This ensures students have the time and focus needed to successfully complete their culminating project.

Concentration Area Courses (21 credits)

Students must select one concentration area.

Total Credits for Completion 48

Concentration Area: Organizational Leadership (Concentration Code F878)

The primary purpose of the concentration in Organizational Leadership (OL) is to build upon the capacities of adult learners to meet both current and future challenges facing their organizations. Organizational leaders must acquire the skills to lead in the context of a changing economy, growing globalism, and rapidly developing technology. The OL concentration has been designed to meet the needs of practitioners by linking theory to best practices. The curriculum presents students with strategic opportunities to develop professionally and to apply their knowledge and skills to lead organizations effectively into the future. Note: This is a non-certification program.

Concentration Learning Outcomes

Graduates of the Ed.D. program with a concentration in Organizational Leadership will demonstrate proficiency in the following learning outcomes as evidenced by their participation in class, application of problem-based learning, completion of class assignments and presentations, and/or field experiences.

Graduates will be able to:

1. Demonstrate global and virtual leadership competencies by applying cross-cultural awareness, digital collaboration strategies, and inclusive practices to lead diverse teams effectively.

Program Information

Master of Science in Applied Behavior Analysis

The Master of Science (M.S.) in Applied Behavior Analysis (ABA) prepares students to apply evidence-based principles to improve behavior and learning across various settings. The program combines a strong conceptual foundation with practical skill development, emphasizing assessment, intervention, and ethical practice. Graduates will be prepared to serve as leaders in professional practice, supervision, research, and community service.

Program Format

Students enrolled in the online Master of Science in Applied Behavior Analysis are required to complete a total of 30 credits at a minimum. The minimum 30 credits are comprised of 21 credit hours of foundational coursework and 9 credits of experiential learning culminating in a completed Master's Research Project. Students may elect to complete 6 additional credit hours in Autism and Developmental Disabilities.

Program Learning Outcomes

At the completion of the degree, students will be able to:

1. Demonstrate understanding of the foundational skills and philosophical underpinnings of applied behavior analysis;
2. Implement clinical skills and competencies supported by ethical practice and evidenced-based research; and
3. Exhibit competency in applying research to inform professional practice and to advance the profession.

Admission Requirements

In order to be admitted to the program, applicants must meet the following requirements:

1. Complete all parts of the online Application for Admissions.
2. $50 nonrefundable application fee.
3. Baccalaureate degree from a regionally accredited institution with a GPA of 3.0 or higher or a master's degree with an overall GPA of 3.0 or better.
4. Official transcripts for Master's degrees - Sealed official transcripts from the applicants conferred 4-year bachelor's degree institution attended (excluding CAS program applications and international student applications). If a student is seeking to transfer in college or institutional credits toward the degree applying to, and it is different from where the applicant earned a 4-year bachelor's degree, the admissions office may require sealed official transcripts from that institution. All CAS program applicants are required to submit sealed official transcripts from all institutions attended, per CAS requirements.
5. Transcripts should be forwarded directly from the issuing institution in a sealed envelope in order to be considered official. Applicants submitting electronic transcripts should provide this email address with their request: electronictranscript@nova.edu.

6. Applicants who have attended foreign universities or colleges are required to have their academic credentials evaluated for U.S. institutional equivalence. Please visit the National Association of Credential Evaluation Services for more information. International students are encouraged to contact the Office of International Student Services at (954) 262-7240 or 800-541-6682, ext. 27240, or by email at intl@nova.edu, or visit the Office of International Students and Scholars website at <https://www.nova.edu/international-affairs/index.html/students/>.

Applied Behavior Analysis (Major Code P503)

About the Program

The Master of Science (M.S.) in Applied Behavior Analysis (ABA) prepares students to apply evidence-based principles to improve behavior and learning across various settings. The program combines a strong conceptual foundation with practical skill development, emphasizing assessment, intervention, and ethical practice. Graduates will be prepared to serve as leaders in professional practice, supervision, research, and community service. This program has been designed to meet the Board Certified Behavior Analyst (BCBA) Pathway 2 coursework requirements. Applicants will need to meet additional requirements to qualify for BCBA certification.

The Behavior Development Solutions \(BDS\) Learning Modules are integrated across the ABA course sequence. This thoughtful decision was made to complement the coursework and actively prepare students for the BCBA exam. The BDS modules will expose students to simulated exam experiences, with the intention of helping students familiarize themselves with the structure and process of the exam. The organized practice may also assist in identifying areas that may require more focus and developing personalized, test-taking strategies to approach the exam with greater confidence and performance.

Total Credits Required for Degree Completion 30

Master of Human Services in Child Protection

The Master of Human Services (M.H.S.) in Child Protection is designed to close the gap between ground level on-the-job training and evidence-based best-practices through instruction in competency-based areas related to child protective services. Students will develop the critical knowledge, values, and skills necessary as child protection professionals to respond effectively to the complex problems confronting children and families in the child protective services system.

Program Format

The online 30-credit hour degree program consists of coursework aimed to increase professional effectiveness, productivity, and retention of case managers, caseworkers/child advocates, and administrators. As a student in the program, you will acquire the tools needed to improve the quality of care, and well-being and safety of children and families in the child welfare system. Courses may also be offered face-to-face for pre-arranged cohorts.

Program Learning Outcomes

At the completion of the degree, students will be able to:

1. Demonstrate knowledge of child and youth welfare, family systems and social services.
2. Demonstrate proficiency in investigating, intervening, supporting, and advocating for children and youth welfare, family systems, and social services.
3. Demonstrate proper documentation skills in investigating, intervening, supporting, and advocating for children and youth welfare, family systems, and social services.
4. Demonstrate proper assessment skills in investigating, intervening, supporting, and advocating for children and youth welfare, family systems, and social services.
5. Demonstrate proper communication skills in investigating, intervening, supporting, and advocating for children and youth welfare, family systems, and social services.

Admission Requirements

1. Complete online application form.
2. Submit a nonrefundable application fee of $50 (in U.S. dollars).
3. Evidence of a bachelor's degree with a minimum cumulative grade point average (CGPA) of a 2.5 or higher from a regionally accredited institution. If the applicant earned less than a 2.5 cumulative GPA, we may consider the application for review with a minimum Graduate Record Examination (GRE®) test score of 300 (combined Verbal and Quantitative scales only) or a Miller Analogies Test (MAT) scaled score of 400. (The tests must have been taken within the past 5 years from the date of application.)
4. Official transcripts for Master's degrees - Sealed official transcripts from the applicants conferred 4-year bachelor's degree institution attended (excluding CAS program applications and international student applications). If a student is seeking to transfer in college or institutional credits toward the degree applying to, and it is different from where the applicant earned a 4-year bachelor's degree, the admissions office may require sealed official transcripts from that institution. All CAS program applicants are required to submit sealed official transcripts from all institutions attended, per CAS requirements.

Transcripts should be forwarded directly from the issuing institution in a sealed envelope in order to be considered official. Applicants submitting electronic transcripts should provide this email address with their request: electronictranscript@nova.edu.

SCHOOL OF CRIMINAL JUSTICE

The Abraham S. Fischler School of Criminal Justice (SCJ) provides the criminal justice major at the bachelors, masters, and doctoral levels, aimed at providing students with the knowledge and skills needed to positively influence the ever changing and expanding field of criminal justice. The Master of Science in Criminal Justice utilizes a multidisciplinary approach to provide the critical thinking skills and foundational knowledge necessary to meet public safety needs both locally and nationally. In the program, students will have the opportunity to focus their studies in areas such as crime analysis, behavioral science, child protection and juvenile justice. The core curriculum and concentration options allow students to develop the leadership skills and professional knowledge necessary to tackle the challenges found in the field. The Ph.D. in Criminal Justice opens opportunities in the areas of research, academia, and management to those who are ready to advance as well as to individuals considering a career change. A Ph.D. in Criminal Justice can lead to a career in administration (social policy), academia, research, and upper-level jobs as criminal investigators, correctional authorities, consultants, or criminologists. As a social science, criminal justice researchers identify patterns of criminal behavior in an attempt to analyze the ability of society to control crime and delinquency. Researchers typically use an interdisciplinary approach to study crime in an attempt to determine the cause and prevention of crime. A Ph.D. in Criminal Justice prepares one to examine, analyze and propose solutions to crime and problems in the Criminal Justice system.

Program Information

Master of Science in Criminal Justice

The Master of Science (M.S.) in Criminal Justice trains those interested in law enforcement and the justice system through an interdisciplinary focus. The program prepares students through the core curriculum and allows for exposure to many different subject areas, found in the ever-burgeoning field of criminal justice, through various specialty tracks. This facilitates choice for students and fosters the development of experience within a particular segment of the field. Additionally, students may choose among elective courses, which reflect areas of interest to criminal justice professionals.

Program Format

The online M.S. in Criminal Justice program requires successful completion of 30 credit hours that includes core courses, concentration courses, and electives.

Program Learning Outcomes

At the completion of the degree, students will be able to:

1. Identify and describe major classical and contemporary criminology theories that attempt to explain delinquent and criminal behavior.
2. Identify, compare, and contrast various historical perspectives on criminal justice in America comprising the components of law enforcement, courts, corrections, and the juvenile justice system.
3. Analyze data and information and draw critical conclusions from that analysis.
4. Identify and demonstrate understanding and effective application of principles, techniques, and skills necessary for specialization in concentration.
5. Demonstrate the ability to communicate effectively both orally and in writing on a variety of topics related to criminal justice.

Admission Requirements

To be considered for admission to the Master's program in criminal justice, the applicant is required to present evidence of scholastic ability, significant interest in the area of criminal justice for which admissions is sought, personal stability, and sound moral character. Those applying for the Master's program as full degree seeking candidates must meet the following eligibility requirements:

1. Complete online application form.
2. Application fee of $50 (in U.S. dollars) made payable to Nova Southeastern University will be charged for each application submitted.
3. Evidence of a bachelor's degree with a minimum cumulative grade point average (CGPA) of a 2.5 or higher from a regionally accredited institution. If the applicant earned less than a 2.5 cumulative GPA, we may consider the application for review with a minimum Graduate Record Examination (GRE®) test score of 300 (combined Verbal and Quantitative scales only) or a Miller Analogies Test (MAT) scaled score of 400. (The tests must have been taken within the past 5 years from the date of application.)

4. Official transcripts for Master's degrees - Sealed official transcripts from the applicants conferred 4-year bachelor's degree institution attended (excluding CAS program applications and international student applications). If a student is seeking to transfer in college or institutional credits toward the degree applying to, and it is different from where the applicant earned a 4-year bachelor's degree, the admissions office may require sealed official transcripts from that institution. All CAS program applicants are required to submit sealed official transcripts from all institutions attended, per CAS requirements.

Transcripts should be forwarded directly from the issuing institution in a sealed envelope in order to be considered official. Applicants submitting electronic transcripts should provide this email address with their request: electronictranscript@nova.edu.

Applicants who have attended foreign universities or colleges are required to have their academic credentials evaluated for U.S. institutional equivalence. Please visit the National Association of Credential Evaluation Services for more information. Graduation Requirements

Please refer to Graduation Information in the NSU/FCE&SCJ Student Handbook at which can be found at <https://www.nova.edu/student-affairs/student-handbooks.html>. Specific program completion requirements can be located within the concentration or contact an academic advisor for additional information.

To complete the M.S. in Criminal Justice program a student must have:

- completed all required coursework;
- attained an overall 3.0 GPA; and
- fulfilled all financial obligations to the university for the diploma to be released.

Program Completion Timeline

Master's degree students are allotted three (3) years from the initial term of enrollment in which to complete all program/degree requirements. Students unable to complete all program/degree requirements within this three-year time frame will be subject to dismissal.

Criminal Justice (Major Code J001)

The M.S. in Criminal Justice trains those interested in law enforcement and the justice system through an interdisciplinary focus. The program prepares students through the core curriculum and allows for exposure to many different subject areas, found in ever burgeoning field of criminal justice, through various specialty tracks. This facilitates choice for students and fosters the development of experience within a particular segment of the field. Additionally, students may choose among elective courses which reflect areas of interest to criminal justice professionals.

Program Format

Students enrolled in the online Master of Science in Criminal Justice program are required to complete a total of 30 credits at a minimum. The minimum 30 credits include 15 credit hours of core coursework, 12 credit hours within one specific concentration, and one 3 credit elective.

Students interested in enrolling in Ph.D. level courses must complete 9 master's level credits before registering for any doctoral coursework. The number of Ph.D. courses in the degree should not exceed two courses. If you have questions, please consult with your academic adviser.

Total Credits Required for Degree Completion 30

Doctor of Philosophy in Criminal Justice

The Doctor of Philosophy (Ph.D.) in Criminal Justice is a research degree. Inherent to its design are the rigorous academics that produce a critical scholar. The program is intended for students who have mastered a general field of knowledge as well as an area of specialization. They should demonstrate familiarity with the history of their discipline as well as with current advancements and future trends. Students must have the ability to conduct independent original research and scholarly investigation in areas of significant importance. They should be able to correlate their specialization with a general field of knowledge and understand how the concepts of each influence and relate to one another.

This 60-credit hour doctoral program opens opportunities in areas of research, academia, and management to those who are ready to advance, as well as to individuals considering a career change. Management perspectives, investigative techniques, and the understanding of human behavior continue to evolve. Criminal behavior impacts legal, social, and cultural influences. A detailed understanding of these factors and their interrelationships prepares an individual in the criminal justice field with a solid foundation upon which to perform, teach, and lead. The doctoral program examines these relationships and seeks to produce individuals able to make significant contributions within the criminal justice profession.

Program Learning Outcomes

At the completion of the degree, students will be able to:

1. Apply existing criminal justice theory to current research practices.
2. Analyze the history of criminal justice in the United States and identify significant events and their relation to current trends and policies.
3. Discuss current trends and issues in criminal justice and what they indicate in the future.
4. Evaluate current methods of crime control and prevention and identify weaknesses and strengths of each.
5. Apply scientific research methods to examine issues and questions of significance in the criminal justice field.
6. Evaluate scholarly papers and articles against well-recognized standards of research design and data interpretation.
7. Evaluate research results for validity and document these findings.
8. Use appropriate and ethical research methods to develop policies and procedures that advance the mission of criminal justice systems.
9. Carry out meaningful individual research and dissertation in the dissertation product.

Admission Requirements

Admission to the doctoral program in Criminal Justice will be determined according to established university policies. The department will make a concerted effort to select only those students who are clearly best qualified for the rigors and responsibility of advanced study.

The following is required of all applicants for the doctoral degree in Criminal Justice:

1. Complete online application form.

2. Application fee of $50 (in U.S. dollars) made payable to Nova Southeastern University will be charged for each application submitted.
3. Completion of a Master's degree from a regionally accredited University with a GPA of 3.0 for master's level work. Among those who hold doctoral degrees in Criminal Justice it is not unusual to find individuals who have earned graduate degrees in other fields such as Psychology, Sociology, Anthropology, and Political Science. This recognizes that criminal justice is not restricted to a particular kind of academic preparation for it shares aspects of many others. This multi-dimensional approach to academic study is repeated in the field as practitioners engage in research, problem solving and system reform.
4. Official transcripts for Doctoral degrees - Sealed official transcripts from the applicants conferred master's degree institution attended (excluding CAS program applications and international student applications). Sealed official transcripts from the applicants conferred bachelor's degree institution attended may be required dependent upon admission criteria of the doctoral program. If a student is seeking to transfer in college or institutional credits, toward the degree applying to, and it is different from where the applicant earned a 4-year bachelor's degree and/or master's degree, the admissions office may require sealed official transcripts from that institution. All CAS program applicants are required to submit sealed official transcripts from all institutions attended, per CAS requirements.

Official electronic transcripts can be sent to electronictranscript@nova.edu or mailed. Applicants who have attended foreign universities or colleges are required to have their academic credentials evaluated for U.S. institutional equivalence. Please visit the National Association of Credential Evaluation Services for more information. International students are encouraged to contact the Office of International Student Services at (954) 262-7240 or 800-541-6682, ext. 27240, or by email at intl@nova.edu, or visit the Office of International Students and Scholars website at <https://www.nova.edu/international-affairs/index.html/students/>.

5. One of the following must be submitted:
 - a. Copy of completed master's thesis or equivalent capstone deliverable; the paper must reflect original work, be exclusively of the applicant's authorship and should have been supervised and evaluated by a faculty member;
 - b. GRE score of 300 or better on the combined verbal and quantitative sections based on the new score reports. Test scores are valid for five years after the testing year in which the student was tested;
 - c. Sample of published work from a refereed publication within the criminal justice or related discipline
 - d. Successful completion of J.D. or doctorate in related field.
6. Submit a copy of current curriculum vitae.
7. Complete an interview with program faculty.
8. It is preferred that the Criminal Justice doctoral candidate have a background that encourages and enables him or her to conduct serious academic research across a variety of subject areas. Encouraging students with graduate degrees other than criminal justice to join the program furthers this objective.
9. The student's background should reflect strong dedication to the field of criminal justice either through academic or professional endeavors. Academic achievement would be represented by experience as an instructor/researcher or administrator within a university or criminal justice training facility. Professional history may include years of progressively responsible administrative positions within a criminal justice agency.

How to Apply

Those interested in seeking their Doctor of Philosophy in Criminal Justice should apply online at: <https://education.nova.edu/degrees/doctoral/criminal-justice/index.html> where an application and all necessary application information may be obtained.

Orientation Information

The School of Criminal Justice (SCJ) students will be provided with important orientation information, via e-mail, after the signed acceptance letter and seat deposit are received by the SCJ program office. A synchronous (live) orientation session is held prior to the start of the Fall term. Students are strongly advised to attend this session to learn more about the program's expectations and to meet their classmates and professors along with program staff and administrators.

Academic Advisement

Students seeking academic advisement or degree planning should consult with an Academic Advisor by calling 954/262-8500 or via email at fceadvise@nova.edu.

Graduation Requirements
